Non-Muslims in the Shari'ah of Islam

by Salim Al-Bahnasawy

Translated by Bayan Translation Services

> ترحمة كتاب قواعد التعامل مع غير السلمين تأثيف سالم البغنساوي

Dar An-Nashr Liljami'at

Title : Non-Muslims in the Shari'ah of Islam

Author : Salim Al-Bahnasawy

: Bayan Translation Services Translators: Aisha Adel & Said Traore

Editor: Fatimal El-Kavaly

Edition First

Issue Date : 2004

Translator

Copy Right : All Rights Reserved to Publisher

Publisher : Dar An-Nashr Liliami'at

Deposit No. : 7702 / 2004 ISRN : 977 - 316 - 124 - 2

Code · 160/2

دار النشر للجامعات - مصر Dar An-Nashr Lil-Jami'at - Egypt P.O. Box (130 M. Farid) Cairo 11518, Egypt-Telefax: (00202) 4502812

Table of Contents

TABLE OF CONTENTS
TRANSLITERATION SYSTEM	V
TRANSLATOR'S NOTE	I
INTRODUCTION)
CHAPTER ONE; PEACEFUL COEXISTENCE WITH NON-MUSLIMS	š,.
MISSIMS RILATIONSHE WITH OTHES. MILTPLURAISM IN ISLAM. TRAININ, PLACTELL NOW-MUSSIES AND THE PROPHET'S MISSACES. His messages to Khousus and Heraclius. Conquests size to Khousus and Heraclius. Conquests in Persia. Conquests in Repriative. SCOLAL RELATIONS WITH NOW-MUSSIMS: FLOHITM, AND PLACEHUS CONSTRUCT. Document of Rights and the Constitution of ALMadinah: REALTY OF JIHAD AND JETANE MINISTRUST AND JETANE The Reality of Jetane. Amount of Bryshe. Amount of Bryshe. Alian of Imposing Jetane.	1 1 1 1 2 3 3 3
CHAPTER TWO: SOCIAL RELATIONS: THE BALANCE BETWEEN WALÂ' AND AL-BARÂ'
AL-WALK, AL-BARK AND CITIZENSHIP. Rights of Citizenship, A-MV-36' and Al-Bara'- The Concepts of Walk' and Al-Bara'- The Concepts of Gildernship. Homeland in Slam: AL-WALK, AL-BARK' AND FATWA OF THE MINISTRY OF RELIGIOUS FROMWANDS:	4 5
SOCIAL RELATIONS WITH NON-MUSLIMS:	5

	1. Visiting Sick Non-Muslims	57
	2. Preparing the Dead of Non-Muslims for burial and Following	,
	their Funerals:	57
	3. Visiting the Graves of Non-Muslims:	59
	4. Comforting Non-Muslims:	59
	5. Buying Garments from Non-Musl ms:	59
	6. Using Vessels of Non-Muslims:	60
	7. Sacrifices of the People of the Book and Polytheists:	60
	8. Exposure of Muslim women to non-Muslims:	61
	9. Greeting Non-Muslims:	63
	10. Testimony of Non-Muslims:	65
	11. Seeking Help from Non-Muslims:	66
	12. Exchanging Cifes and Congratulations:
	PRINCIPLES FOR DEALING WITH PEOPLE OF OTHER FAITHS:	70
	FIRST: DO NOT KEEP SEPARATE FROM SOCIETY:
	SECOND: LAWFULNESS OF ACQUIRING CITIZENSHIP FROM NON-MUSLIA NATIONS AND WORKING FOR THEMS.
	THIRD: WORKING UNDER AUTHORITY OF NON-MUSLIM:	74
	FOURTH: DISAGREEMENT WITH THE RULER:	74
	FIFTH: PROHIBITION OF PERFIDY:	75
	SIXTH: RESPECTING NEUTRALITY OF COUNTRIES:
	SEVENTH: PROHIBITING TRANSGRESSION AGAINST SOCIETY:	79
	EIGHTH: NECESSITY OF COOPERATION AND SOLIDARITY:
	NINTH: NECESSITY FOR PEACEFUL COEXISTENCE:	81
	TENTH: GOOD EXAMPLE:	81
	ELEVENTH: REMOVING DUBIOUSNESS ABOUT PRESCRIBED PENALTIES AN	D
	HUMAN RIGHTS:	82
	TWELFTH: NON-JURISDICTION OF COMPULSORY APPLICATION OF
	SHARİ'AH:	84
	THIRTEENTH: RIGHTS OF FOREIGNERS IN MUSLIM COUNTRIES:
	FOURTEENTH: THE ISLAMIC VIEW CONCERNING THE SUBJECTS OF A HOS
	COUNTRY	89
	JUDGMENTS PERTAINING TO WAR IN CHRISTIANITY
	JESUS CHRIST AND TAKING UP ARMS	92
	JEWISH JUDGMENTS PERTAINING TO NON-JEWS
	NON-MUSLIMS AND THE PALESTINIAN ISSUE	94
,	CONCLUSION	98

Transliteration System

1. The Arabic Alphabet

_	-	_
No.	Letter	By	Example
1.	1 1	A	Asad	أسد
2.	4	В	Badr	بدر
3.	4	T	Tabûk	نبوك
4.	۵ ا	Th	Al-Haytham	الهوثم
5.	ε	J	Jábir -	جابر
6.	2	Н	Al- H iwálah	الحوالة
7.	É	Kh	Khadijah	خديجة
8.	۵.	D	Dînâr	ديتاو
9.	3	Dh	Dhul-Qa'dah	نو القعدة
10.	ر	R	Ar-Ribà	الريا
11.	ز	Z	Zaynab	زينب
12.	س	5	Sûrah	سورة
13.	ش	Sh	Ash-Shāfi'y	التنفعي
14.	من	5	Al-Angår	الأنصار
15.	مض	D	Diyâ'	منياه
16.	ط	ĭ	At-Tawaf	الطواف
17.	1.	Zh	Azh-Zhihâr	الظهار
18.	ع	'A, 'I, 'U	'Aly, Al-'Ilm, 'Umar	لي، العلم، عسر
19.	غ	Gh	Al-Mughirah	المغبرة
20.	ن ا	F	Al-Făti h ah	القائحة
21.	ق	Q	Banû Qaynuqā'	بنو فيظاع
22.	선	K	Umm Kulthüm	أم كالثوم

viii • Non-Muslims in the Sharf'ah of Islam

24.	-	м	Umayymah	أميمة
25.	ن	N	An-Nasî'ah	النسينة
26.	_4	Н	Hind	.55a
27.	3	W	Al-Wāqi'ah	الوائمة
28.	ي	Y	Yathrib	يثرب
2 Vowel	s & Dia	critical Ma	ırks

ار آیت | L | Abū Lahab | ان ا

No.	Letter	Ву	Example
1.	الفنحة	Α	Fahd	فيد
2.	الد بالألف	Â	AJ-Isnād	الإسفاد
3.	الضمة	U	Al-Jumu'ah	اليمة
4.	المد بالواو	Û	Al- H udúd	الحدود
5.	الكسرة	- 1	Ash-Shirk	الشرك
6.	المد بالراء	î	Ibn Sîrîn	این سیرین
7.	الألف المفتوحة	Α	Al-Ahzāb	الأحز اب
8.	الألف المضمومة	U	Usâmah	أسلمة
9.	الألف المكسورة	1	Al-'lhsår	الإحصار
10.	الحين الساكنة	,	Sa'd, As-Sa'y	سعده السعي

Translator's Note

All praises be to Pallah, Who conferred upon us the honor to be at the service of His Religion. Blessings and peace be upon the Prophet Muhammad, who was sent with the guidance for all people, regardless of their race, complexion, or cultural or civilizational origin

This book tries to provide a deep insight into a major issue of Islamic knowledge: that is how Islam approaches non-Muslims, The book clarifies very well how Islam, both in theory and practice, throughout history proved to be a peaceful religion and how it supported peaceful coexistence among people regardless of their religion, ethnicity, or race.

Throughout the translation we took the following course:

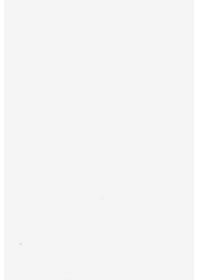

The Arabic text of the Quranic verses were inserted in Uthmani calligraphy.

. The translations of the Glorious Quran were adapted from Muhammad Mahmud Ghāli, Ph.D., Toward Understanding The Ever-Glorious Quran. Dar An-Nashr Lillami'at.

Although the Hadiths were translated without their full chains of transmission, attribution has been made to their original recording in the different Hadith compilations, which include Sahih Al-Bukhtiv, Sahih Muslim, Sunan Abū Dāwūd, and others.

Finally, we pray that this translation will provide useful information and advice to all its readers, regardless of their background, and that they may all benefit from it. We also hope that all our efforts in this book will be counted among our good deeds with "Allah, the Almighty, Amen.

Muhammad Fadel

Introduction

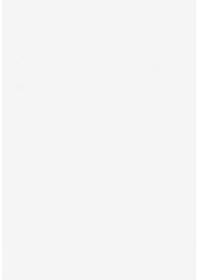

The contemporary epoch witnesses divers attitudes towards the Istamic approach to non-Mulsins. This book covers this issue through a set of papers which the author has previously submitted to world conferences. As the viewpoints assed therein prepsent the most authentic views of Islamic jurisprudence, contributors and commentations to the said world conferences have not only supported the author's points but also recommended to spread them worldwide.

Throughout the chapters of this book, the author refers to Islamic references laid down by the most outstanding Muslim Scholars who lived when the Islamic state was powerful enough and whose views would have never flattered non-Muslim. At that time, Europe was living in the darkness of middle ages till the upheaval of the French Revolution.

In support of the thoughts and viewpoints raised in this wonderful book, Dar An-Nashr Lit-Jami'at is pleased to present it in an English edition, hoping it would be beneficial for whoever reads it.

The Publisher

Chapter One

Peaceful Coexistence with Non-Muslims

Muslims' Relationship with Others ü. Multi-Pluralism in Islam

iii.

Treating Peaceful Non-Muslims and the Prophet's Messages

Conquests and the Treatment of Warriors

iv. v.

Social Relations with Non-Muslims vi. Reality of lihâd and lizvah

Chapter One: Peaceful Coexistence with Non-Muslims

Muslims' Relationship with Others

Man is sociable by nature, so in the course of his lifetime, he is bound to interact and have social relations with many of his compatriots.

Islam has defined such relations and governed them on the bases of equity and cordiality among all beings. Compassion and piety are obligatory for a Muslim, based on multi-plurality. ³Allah, the Exalted, says:

which means, "And help one another to benignancy and piety, and do not help one another to vice and hostility." ("Al-Ma"idah, 5-2).

PAlláh, the Exalted, also says.

Allâh does not forbid you las regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them; surely Allâh loves the equitable. (*Al-Muntahanah, 60:8)

For the reasons in the above verse, the first constitution, known as the Declaration or Paper, was established by the Prophet (peace be upon him) in Al-Madinah. The articles included in this Declaration stated the rights and obligations of the non-Muslim minority, the Jr. . Article number 30 stated that the Jews are an independent nation living among Muslims. These Jews have their religion and Muslims have theirs.

Article number 49 stated, "They the Jewsl are to support one another against any one who fights the people of this declaration." Article number 59, "They (the Jews) are to support one another against whoever attacks 'Article Jewsl's are to support one another against whoever attacks 'Article Gumber 63 stated, "Jews shall coorninue to eight of the Stated Stated, and control their internal affairs, just as 'Auslims, with mutual righteousness between the people of this declaration".

Thus, the basic tenet for Muslim treatment of non-Muslim subjects in the Islamic State upholds that "they enjoy the same rights we enjoy and they have the same duties we have".

Misinterpring some Qur'ainic verses which deal with loyalty and to Bara' disavoing the non-Nutsilims leads to the assumption the the susurprior the verses asking Muslims to assume attitudes of friendship, righteousness and tolerance contradict those calling for loyalty Bara', Jihad (when it means fighting) Such verses are specific to warriors and do not apply to look living in peace are specific to the surprise of the su

The Prophet (pace be upon him) warned against distorting meanings and seeking contradictions in "Allahs" words, whether from the Qur'ain or the sunnah. On one occasion, the Prophet (peace be upon him) heard some people arguing, mentioning verses from the Qur'ain that apparently contradicted each other. To this he sald, "Verliy, what caused those who came before you to perish was this. They made (verses from) the Qur'ain contradict each other, while in actual fact the verses of "Allah were revealed and the properties of the prope to verify each other. So, do not seek verses to belie one another... $^{\nu 2}$

BadáT Aş-ŞanáT, Al-Kásány, vol. 7, p. 100; Alikám Ahlidh-Dhimmah, Iboul-Quyyim, ed. P Sobby Al-Saleh, p. 48; Dár Al-Ilm Lilmaláyin, Beirut 1964.

It seems that some Muslims are not aware that our Muslim Juriss' have said: "Fighting non-Muslims is dependant on their attacking Muslims. None is to be killed just for being a disbeliever." Do these people not know that film Taimipha he great Scholar of Idea, clearly states: "Allowing Muslims to wage war is based on others wagins war."

Multi-Pluralism in Islam

Those who have not embraced Islam are not coerced to abide by its judgments, which differ with the rulings of their religion, unless they willfully seek to baye Islamic judgment applied.

PAllāb savs-

which means, "Constant listeners to lies, constant eaters of illicit gain, so in case they come to you, then judge between them or veer away from them, and in case you veer away from them, then they will never harm you anything and in case you judge, then judge with equity between them. Surely "Allâh loves the enuitable." (AAMS Glads, 1-42).

In fact, many hypocrites embraced Islam during the life of the prophet (peace be upon him), and publicly demonstrated their allegiance to their new faith by joining the Islamic community. Although these people apostatized with their hearts, they remained under the banner of the State as long as they did not take arm saginist it. One such example is the insincere man who revealed his hypocrisy when he objected to the way the Prophet (peace be upon him) divided the booty of Hawazin. The man came forward and cried, "Be just, Muhammadi" The Prophet (peace be upon him) said to him, "Woe unto yout Who is just if an not just! Would fail and lose if I am not just! Would fail and lose if I am not just! Would fail and lose if I am not just! would fail and lose if I am not just! would fail and lose if I am not just! would fail and lose if I am not just! who will have not have a some some of the man whom "Allah had chosen to carry. His final message for mankind. They came from the mouth of a man who had no true faith in "Allah's message or messa Upon hearing the words of the man, "Umar bin Al-Khatlâb (may "All'âh be pleased with him! stood up and said, "O Messenger of "All'âh the pleased with him! stood up and said, "O Messenger of "All'âh! Shall! I slay that hypocrite!" But the Prophet (peace be upon him) declined. He can believe in his heart what he wishes, but his outward allegiance to Islam means he deserves the rights of his fellow Muslims.

¹ Recorded by Ahmad, Al-Musnad, vol. 4, p. 495.

Islam came as the only religion that not only accepted the presence of its enemies, but also guarded their rights although those non-Muslims deny Islam. "Allah, the Exalhed, has founded the universe on the basis of multi-plurality and diversity. Consider the following examples of this wondrous diversity:

 "Allâh has created the universe and all creatures to display great variety, even when life forms show patterns of similarity. There is no one shape to any of "Allâh's creations. This is among His signs as the Lord of the universe.

³ Recorded by Ahmad, Al-Musnad, vol. 3, p. 56, pp. 353-355.

 There is multi-plurality in and nationalities. The Qur²an mentions such multiplicity as one of ²Allāh's signs:

"And of his signs is the creation of the heavens and the earth and the differences of your tongues and colors. Surely in that are indeed signs for knowledgeable men." ("Ar-Rūm, 30:22)

3. There is also multi-plurality in races and tribes, a distinction mentioned in the Glorious Qurian. The purpose of such variety in race is for people to get mutually acquainted, not for them to seek ways to mock or bully those who are different. "Allah says:

which means, "O you mankind, surely We created you of a male and a female, and We have made you races and tribes that you may get mutually acquainted. Surely the most honorable among you in the Providence of "Allah are the most pious; surely "Allah is Ever-Knowing, Ever-Cognizant." ("Al-Hujurkt. 49:13)

There is also multiplicity in laws and cultures. Allah says:

which means, "And if your lord had (so) decided, he would indeed have made mankind one nation; and they do not cease differing (among themselves). Excepting the ones on whom your lord has mercy, and he created them for that (end)." (Hdd, 11:118-119) which means, "To every one of you We have made a legislation and a program. And if "Allah had so decided, He would indeed have made you one nation, but (He did not) that He may try you in what He has brought you. So race with each other in the charitable (deeds); to "Allah will be your return, altogether." ("Al-MAT-dtah, 5-48)

And he says.

 Considerable variety was also seen among the subjects of the early Islamic State during the lifetime of the Messenger of PAlláh (peace be upon him).

Among the Muslim tribes, there were many factions, similarly so for the Jewish tribes. The Declaration contained the rights of all subjects, their obligations, and how they were expected to maintain relations with one another. Whether for Jews, Christians or people of other faiths, the principle is the same. Under Muslim rule they expected to make advice, and righteousness are among their characteristics. When disagreements or disputes arise, Muslims refer to the Our"an and Sungal to provide them.

- 5. The unity of the Muslim nation underwent various political divisions, which almost led to the use of weapons in struggles: An example of this is found in the "great ordeal struggles" during the time of the righty guided Caliphs, However, such disagreement did not mean that anyone was to be excluded from the nation. Moreover, it did not hinder cooperation among the different parties, nor the establishment of the rights of others. Thus, the fourth caliph 'Aly 'may 'Allah' be pleased with him established the rights of his dissidents, the most important being freedom of expression without the use of arms. He also stated that he would not start a fight with them as long as they did not start a fight with them as long as they did not start a fight and he would not deprive them of their social rights.
 - 'Aby may 'Allâh be pleased with himi declared these rights to the Khaziijtes who pronounced him a disbeliever and took up arms against him. Such rights formed the Islamic constitution governing the treatment of opposition even if such opposition does not approve of the Calipin's judgment and declared it lawful to shed his blood in execution.

The Islamic solution to the problem of difference in religion is the coexistence between all in the same world. It is "Allah Who wi'll gather people on the Day of Resurrection and judge between them in all matters of difference.

PAllah says:

which means, "And if your Lord had (so) decided, whoever is in the earth would indeed have believed, all of them, altogether. Would you then compel mankind until they are believers?" (Yûnus, 10:99)

And He says:

which means, "To every one of you We have made a legislation and a program. And if "Allâh had so decided, he would indeed have made you one nation." ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:48)

The Exalted also says:

which means, "And in case they dispute with you, then say, ""Allâh knows best whatever you do." "Allâh will judge between you on the Day of the Resurrection concerning that wherein you used to differ." ("AH-Haii. 22:68-69)

Moreover, Islam teaches people the manners and etiquette of conversation with those of different beliefs. When Muslims are aggressively attacked for worshipping idols and believing in One God, They are not to answer in the same tone, but with the mildest of manners. "Allah aven."

which means, "Say, "You will not be questioned about whatever crimes (we committed), nor will we be questioned about whatever you do." Say, "Our Lord will gather us together; thereafter He will arbitrate between us with the Truth, and He is the Superb Arbiter, the Ever Knowing." (Saba³, 34:25-26)

Instead, Islam orders Muslims to cooperate and help one another in righteousness and goodness for all mankind, even when attacked. When the Tribe of the Quraish prevented Muslims from carrying out Hajj rituals in the House of "Allāh, this verse was revealed:

which means, "And do not let antagonism of a people who barred you from the Inviolable Mosque provoke you to transgress. And help one another to benignancy and piety, and do not help one another to vice and hostility." ("Al-Ma²Idah, 5:2)

Treating Peaceful Non-Muslims and the Prophet's Messages

Reference to the biography of the Prophet (peace be upon him), reveals that he had cordial relations with other countries and their rulers. After the truce with the disbelievers of Makkah, the Prophet (peace be upon him) sent messages in Jurian and kings to call them to Islam. Such messages illustrate his treatment of the peaceful among them. Below are some examples of the gentle simplicity with which "Allah's great messenger approached the males of various pations".

His messages to Khosrau and Heraclius:

"In the Name of "Allâh, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful.

⁴ See, As-Strah Al-Halabiyyah, vol. 3, p. 280; Ibn Sa'd, At-Tabaqát Al-Kubrā, vol. 1, p. 260; and Al-Magnizy, Khutat, vol. 1, p. 29.

(This message is) from Muhammad, the Messenger of PAIIah to Khosrau the Great, King of Persia. Peace be upon those who follow the guidance, and believe in "Allih and His Messenger, and upon those who testify that there is no god but "Allih; the Only One Who has no partners, and who testify that Muhammad is His servant and Messenger. I invite you to "Allih, for I am His Messenger to all mankind. My words give heed to he who is alive [i.e. who thinks, feels, listens], that these words may testify against he who chooses of disbelieve. Embrace: Islam and you will be saved but if you refuse, you will bear the sins of the Magi. (i.e. he will bear the sins of his subtiers, who follow his faith?"

The message did not include: If you do not embrace Islam, then you will have to pay Izyah it head-tax imposed on non-Aussims living under Muslim rule) or fight against us. This denotes that choosing between paying Izyah and fighting was only to those negaged in actual warfare. Similarly, the message of the Prophet (opeace be upon him) to Heracillus, Emperor of the Byzantine Empire, did not impose such conditions, that he either embraces Islam or pays [grayl and fights.]

"In the name of "Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful,

(This message is) from Muhammad bin 'Abdullah (son of 'Abdullah) to Henacius, the ruler of Byzantine. Peace be upon those who follow the guidance. I invite you to Islam. Embrace Islam and you will be saved, and "Allah will couble your reward, but if you refuse, you will bear the sins of the Artisiyyin (peasants who are under his rule'h. ("Allah saus").

See, As-Sirah Al-Halabiyyah, vol. 3, p. 277; As-Sirah Al-Nabawiyyah Hámish Al-Halabiyyah, vol. 3, p. 65; Al-Ya'qibby, Tarikh, vol. 2, p. 61. "See, As-Sirah Al-Halabiyyah vol. 3, p. 275: the wordines are his: recorded by [&]quot;See, As-stran AF-randotyyan, vol. 3, p. 275; the wordings are his; recorded of Ahmad, Al-Musnad, vol. 1, p. 263; Ibn 'Asâkir, Târikh, vol. 1, p. 140.

و فَلَ يَلُطُلُ الْكِحَسُ بُمَاوَا إِنْ كَلِيْقِ مَتَوَاءٍ بِيَنِّكَ وَلَيْكُ اللَّهُ مَيْدَةً وَلَا تَشَقَ وَل وحد شَكَّ وَلَا يَتَجَدُّ بَعْشَاء بَعْشَا أَرْبَانَا مِن قُونِ اللَّهِ ۚ فَإِنْ نَزَلُوا فَقُولُوا الشَهْمُوا بِأَنَّ مُسْتَعْرِت ﷺ which means, "Say," O population of the Book, come to a level word between us and you, that we worship none except "Allah, and that we do not associate anything with Him, and that some of us do not take to themselves others as lords, apart from "Allah." so, in case they turn away, then say, "Bear witness that we are Muslims." ("Al-Timtina, 36-4)"

The same words are used in the message of the Prophet (peace be upon him) to Al-Muqawqas, ruler of Coptic Church in Egypt. The message did not include any mention of paying Jizyah or fighting. Here is its exact wording:

"In the Name of "Allah, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful,

(This message is) from Muhammad bin 'Abdullāh to Al-Muqawqas the ruler of the Coptic Church in Egypt. Peace be upon those who follow the guidance. I invite you to Islam. Embrace Islam and you will be saved and "Allāh will double your reward, but if you refuse, you will bear the sins of the Copts. (Allâh says,)

فان تأمثل آلکنس تدافرا إلى گینتو شوار بیتنا وزندگر آلا تنبته إلا آنش ولا تشرق ولا آش ولا تشرف
 بوم شدك ولا تشوید تغطید تغطید آردان می دون آشی فان تولوا تشولوا آشهدوا بالله شنشهر سر ی ولا

which means, "Say, "O population of the Book, come to a level word between us and you, that we worship none except "Allah, and that we do not associate anything with Him, and that some of us do not take to themselves others as lords, apart from "Allâh." so, in case they turn away, then say, "Bear witness that we are Muslims." ("Âl-⁵Imrân, 3:64)"

Conquests and the Treatment of Warriors

This was the way the Prophet (peace be upon him) dealt with peaceful countries, which did not resort to arms. He just invited them peaceful countries, which did not resort to arms. He just invited them peacefully to embrace Islam and when they refused, he did not entail any hostile action, as clear in these messages. On the other hand, when Heraclius, the Byzantine Emporor, made peparations for attacking JAMadhunh, his army gathered for that reason and when they killed Al-Harith bin 'Annr Al-Azdy, the arms and the Prophet (peace be upon him) to the King of Bassa in the city of Mu'tath, the Prophet (peace be upon him) set the state all the Mu'tath where the three Muslim commanders, Zaid bin Al-Harithah, ja far bin Abu Talith and 'Abdullāh bin Rawāhah, were martyred.

When Khálid bin Al-Walid was in charge of the army, he retreated and took it back to Al-Madinah.

Heracilus mobilized troops in Al-Balqà* near Damascus in an attempt to enter Al-Audalnah. He conquered other cities like lakhm and Judham. Thereupon, the Prophet (peace be upon him) led an army which was called Al-Usrah Army. The weather was so hot, equipment was so little, and the three warriors took turns on one riding camel. When the Prophet (peace be upon him) reached Tabck, he sent to Heraclius the massage declaring war, which read, "Chris message is from Muhamman, the Messenger of "Allah to the Byzantine Emperor. I invite you to embrace Islam. If you do, you will enjoy the same rights as Muslims and will have the same obligations as them, but if you refused, you will have to pay Jizyah. "Allah, Clofiride and Statled to He 1, Satzled to Yel."

which means, "Fight the ones who do not believe in "Allâh nor in the Last Day, and do not prohibit whatever "Allâh and his Messenger have prohibited, and do not practice the religion of Truth-from among the ones to whom the Book was brought-until they give the tax out of hand and have been belittled." ("AL-Tawbah, 9:29).

This message bears the meaning of waging war against them, which was not mentioned in the previous message when they both parties were at peace.

This verse was revealed after Herachius had betrayed Muslims. He claimed that he had embraced Islam while he was mobilizing the army twice to attack Al-Madinah. Thus, "Allth gave His Orders of flighting them till they pay Jizyah. That was the reason the Prophet (peace be upon him) sent this second message to Herachius. The first was a message of peace that did not include any mention of paying Jizyah while the latter included the above-mentioned verse.

Conquests in Persia

We have seen that the reason behind Muslim conquests in Byzantine was the intention of the Byzantines to attack Al. Byzantine was the intention of the Byzantines to attack Al. Khosrau responded with as much arrogance to Muhammad's to Muhammad's proper to proper the proper time of the time of the proper time of the proper time of the time of the time of time of the time of time "This message is from Muhammad, the Messenger of 2Allah to Khosaru, ruler of Persia." Upon bearing the name of the Prophet peace be upon him mentioned before his own, Khosaru was enraged. He took hold of the message and tore it up, saying, "(How dare) he write to me in his manner, whele he is my slave!" Then, he ordered that the message-bearer be taken out, and immediately gase orders to have the Prophet teace be upon him) captured When the message-bearer returned to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and described the incident, the blessed Prophet (PBUH) invoked 2Allah against this nation, that it be reduced to dust. He said: "O 2Allah Disperse his Kingdom!").

Prophet (peace be upon him) with the intention of driving him to Cheiphone for his trial and murder. After one day with these soldiers, the Prophet (PBLH) informed them that Khosrau's son had filled his father that right. The two soldiers hurriedly returned to Yemen. When the news was confirmed, and when the new ruler Bādhān took over, he converted to Islam and the people of Yemen embraced Islam along with him.

Khosrau sent two of his soldiers from Yemen to capture the

The example of the Persians and Byzantines quite clearly demonstrates that Muslims never took the first move to start a war. PAllāh saws:

which means, "And fight in the way of PAllâh the ones who fight you, do not transgress; surely PAllâh does not love the transgressors." (PAl-Bagarah, 2:190)

⁷ See, Ibn Al-Athir, Al-Kāmil, vol. 2, p. 80; Al-Ya'qūby, Tālkh, vol. 2, p. 61; Aṭ-Tabaqāt Al-Kubrā, vol. 1, p. 259; As-Sirah Al-Ḥalabıyyah, vol. 3, p. 71.

Juriss have agreed that as Muslims, we should only fight non-Muslims if they attack us. Non-Auslims at the time of the Prophet were killed for this reason only, and not for being disbelievers. Moreover, even at the height of warfare, the Prophet (peace be upon him) forbade Muslims from killing those not fit for or engaged in fighting. He said, "Do not kill a very old man, a child or a woman."

We have already quoted 1bn Taimiyah, as saying, "Allowing Muslims to wage war is based on others waging war."

His student, Ibnul-Qayyim, adds, "Fighting was made obligatory for Muslims against those who started fighting, not those who did not."

And again we remember that "Allah says:

which means, "And fight in the way of "Allâh the ones who fight you, do not transgress; surely "Allâh does not love the transgressors," ("Al-Bagarah, 2:190)"

Jurists also mentioned that Muslims fought against the Byzantines after "Allāh revealed His Orders to fight against them!". "Allāh says, Recorded by Al-Baihaqy, Sunan, vol. 9, p. 90; and by Abu Dāwūd, Sunan, vol. 3, p. 52.

Risland-Oitál n. 118.

¹⁰ Ibnul-Qayyim, Zádul-Ma'ád, vol. 2, p. 58; Al-Zahily, Al-Ylanat Ad-Dawliyyah, p. 115.

which means, "Fight the ones who do not believe in "Allah nor in the Last Day, and do not prohibit whatever "Allah and his Messenger have prohibited, and do not practice the religion of truth-from annong the ones to whom the Book was brought-until they give the tax out of hand and have been belittled." ("Al-Tawbah, 9:29)

It is also known that the battle of Mu'tah with the Byzantines was because of their murder of the Propher's messenger, All-Airli his "Amr Al-Azdy, while the Battle of Tablik was in response Heracikius mobilizing his troops near Damascus to attack Al-Madinah. When the Prophet (peace be upon himi reached Tablik and the Byzantine troops reteated, treaties were reached with the Arab emirates, and the army returned to Al-Madinah. However, the Byzantines response to the treaty was more betrayal; they killed the ruler of Ma'ain and sieged Al-Madinah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked for help in accordance with the treaty, Upon that, he prepared an army led by Usâmah bin Zaid. When the Prophet (peace be upon him) died, his successor (Arrived forth the task. This is how war was waged with the Ryzantines.")

Conquests in Byzantine

The Prophet (peace be upon him) made peace with the disbelievers of Makkah towards the end of the sixth Hegira year. It was known as Al-Hudaibiyah Treaty.

[&]quot; Ibn Al-Athīr, Al-Kāmil, vo. 2, p. 80; and Al-Khudary, Nūrul-Yaqin, p. 210.

After that, he sent messengers to tribes, kings, and rulers inviting them to Islam and conveying to them the commands of Almighty PAlfah, This was during the seventh year of Hegira.

- He sent his companion 'Arnr bin Umayyah Ad-Damary to Negus, King of Abyssinia, who took the message, read it intently, left his thrown and sat down on the ground as a sign of humbleness.
- Prophet Muhammad sent Dihyah bin Khalifah Al-Kalby to Heraclius. Alläh the Almighty speaks of this visit:

which means, "Say, "O population of the Book, come to a level word between us and you, that we worship none except "Allah, and that we do not associate anything with and that some of us do not take to themselves others as lords, apart from "Allah." so, in case they turn away, then say, "Bear witness that we are Muslims." ("Âl-⁵Imrān, 3-64")

When Heraclius read the message, he said to his retinue and advisors, "O people of Byzantine! What would you say to success, guidance, having your kingdorn, and following the words of 'sa bin Maryam (Jesus son of Mary Peace he upon him)?" They asked, "How would that be?" He said, "Follow this Arablain messenger." They rose against him and held the Cross. Upon that, he feared for himself and his kingdom and retracted his words saying, "I only wished to test the strength of your faith."

Then, he summoned Dihyah Al-Kalby and gave him the impression that he had converted to Islam. He also sent some gold coins to the Prophet (peace be upon him) as a present

When Dilyah arrived in Al-Madlnah, he gave the coins to the Prophet (peace be upon him) and told him that Herachus embracing Islam. But Jiriff (Galbriel, peace be upon him) thas already informed the Prophet (peace be upon him) of the turth. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said to Dilyah, "He has deceived you and lied." Then he ordered the coins to be distributed among the purpose.

- 3. He sent Hälib bin Abu Bala'ah to Al-Muqawmaps, ruler of Coptic Church in Egypt, Hälib was respectfully received. The Coptic ruler, however, did not embrace, but neither did he deceive or attack the Muslims. He sent some gifts to the Prophet (peace be upon him): clother for him to wear, a mule to ride and two slawe-gifts among the best in Egypt to serve him. As a way of appreciating his friendly attitude, the Prophet (peace be upon him) accepted the ejft.
- 4. He sent Al-XIII bin Al-Hadramy with a message to the King off Bahrair, Al-Munfills bin Salw who accepted it, converted to Islam and shared it with his people. Some of them converted to Islam while the others remained Jews or Magi. Al-Munfill sought the Prophet's opinion regarding those who refused to embrace Islam. The Prophet ópeace be upon himi wrote to him saying, "Whosoever remains a Jew or a Nagian should pay Jizyah (a head-tax imposed on non-Muslims living under Muslims' control," ²⁸ But, Moover embraces Islam should Muslims' control," ²⁸ But, Moover embraces Islam should pay Zakâh (obligatory charity), which is many times greater than the Jizyah.

 $^{^{12}}$ Recorded by Al-W-lqudy; and Ibn Hishlim, As-Slrah An-Nabawiyyah, vol. 3, p. 380.

5. He sent Al-Harith bin 'Umair Al-Azdy to the head of Byzantines in Basra; Shurahbîl bin 'Amr Al-Ghassany who was so proud that he arrested Al-Härith Al-Azdv tied him up with ropes and killed him. When the Prophet toeace be upon him) was informed of that, he sent an army led by the three commanders; Zaid bin Hārithah, Ja'far bin Abu Tálib and 'Abdulláh bin Rawáhah who took turns in leading the army. The Prophet (peace be upon him) told the Companions who stayed at Al-Madinah that Muslims reached Al-Baloa' and engaged in battle with Heraclius's army. The army consisted of Byzantines and Arabs siding with Byzantines in a village of Al-Blaga' called Masharif. Then. Muslims took refuge in a village called Mu'tah whose name was used in naming the battle. Zaid fought till he was killed. Ja'far took the banner and fought till his right hand was cut off. Upon that he held the banner with his left hand and fought till it was cut off too and he was martyred. PAliah granted him instead two wings in Paradise with which he can fly wherever he wishes. Then, 'Abdullah bin Rawahah took the banner till he was martyred too. This was the account narrated by the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Muslims chose Khālid bin Al-Walid to be their leader. When he misled the Byzantines to thinking he retreated to Al-Madinah, young (Muslim) men threw dust in his face and said, "You ran away." Upon that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "And yet thew will attack with the Permission of "Allah."

Khâlid's retreat with the army was just a trick to give the Muslims a chance to get ready and to give him time to write to the Prophet (peace be upon him) to send him soldiers and orders.

The Prophet (peace be upon himl led an army in the ninth year of Hegis known as Al-Usrah Amry, for the weather extremely hot and weapons and provisions very meager. Heracitus, the Byzantine Emperor who had tried before to deceive the prophet (peace be upon him) using some gifts and by pretending to embrace Islam, took advantage of these hardships. He camped with almost one hundred thousand Byzantine soldiers and one hundred soldiers from Arab tribes who had allied with the Byzantines. The Prophet (peace be upon him) came leading an army of thirty thousand Muslims. This was the biggest Muslim arm very to fisht.

When Muslims reached Tabûk, they found that the Byzantines had retreated and were separated. Thus, the Prophet (peace be upon him) made peace with the Arabs who were used by the Byzantines against the Arabs of the Peninsula. The people of Ailah, Adhra', Taimá', Dawmatul-Jandal and Ma'án Tribes all entered into the pledge with the Muslims.

The Byzantines learned of the pledge and of the ruler of Ma'an, a man Farwah bin 'Arm Al-Judham, embracing Islam. Heracius promptly prepared a great army led by the farmous Theodore. He gave orders that the ruler of Ma'an be killed along with his wife, for embracing Islam. Farwah was killed, and his crucified body was left for many days after to terrorize whoever embraced Islam. Heracius's orders stated that Ma'an was the gate of Shām (Region covering Jordan, Lebanon, Palestine and Syria) leading to the Arabian Peninssall.

He also ordered his commander to make use of the Arabs of Ma'ân, Allah, Adhra' and Jarbâ' in distracting Muslims in battle, for if they killed as many Muslims as possible, it would be easier for the Byzantine army to eradicate them.

The Prophet's (peace be upon him) Arab allies appealed to him for help, and he responded by preparing an army led by Usāmah bin Zaid to attack the Byzantine Empire. His wanted to prevent the Byzantines from fighting Muslims and attacking their allies. The Prophet (peace be upon him died in his home in Al-Madinah shortly after the army set off.

Abu Bakr (may "Allâh be pleased with him), completed the mission after the death of the Prophet (peace be upon him). At the same time, Abu Bakr sent another army to fight the Persians who were making preparations to attack Muslims, after having failed to capture the Prophet (beace be upon him) and put him to trial.

Social Relations with Non-Muslims:

Muslims do not have problems forming relations with non-Muslims; if non-Muslims deny Islam and the rights of Muslims, Islam neither denies previous religions nor the rights of others. Islam based relations between Muslims and non-Muslims on peaceful coexistence. "Allah says.

which means, "Allâh does not forbid you (as regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them; surely "Allâh loves the equitable." ("Al-Muntahanah, 60:8)

Islam acknowledges non-Muslims and their right to choose not to become Muslims, since "Allâh has laid down that approval and conviction, are necessary in order to embrace Islam. "Allâh, the Exalted and ever Mujestic forbids any kind of compulsion or pressure. He says:

which means, "There is no compulsion in the religion; rightmindedness has already been evidently (distinct) from misguidance." ("Al-Baqarah, 2:256)

This verse clearly shows that it is forbidden to force anyone to embrace Islam; there are other verses in the Quri'an, either revealed early in Makkah or later in Al-Madinah periods that carry the same meaning. "Allah says:

which means, "Call this is addressed to the Prophet to the way of your Lord with wisdom and fair admonition, and dispute with them in the way (which is) fairest. Surely your Lord is The Best Knower of the ones who have erred away from His way, and He is The Best Knower of the right-builded," CA-N-Nahl, 16-12.

This general judgment does not contradict with verses concerned with fighting non-Muslims, for we have seen that the latter verses are for specific situations and should not be generalized. This is also the case with the honorable hadfiths concerned with fighting people until they embrace Islam. As "AllAh the Exalled San.)

which means, "So, when the prohibiting months are drawn away, (literally: stripped away) then kill the associators wherever you find them, and take them, and detain them, and sit fin waith for them at every place of observation (i.e. ambush). But, in case they repent, and keep up the prayer, and bring the Zakât, (e. pay the obligatory poor-dues) then let them go their way (literally: pass on their way); surely "Allâh is Ever-Forgiving, Ever-Merciful." ("At-Tawbah, 9:5)

These words were revealed concerning people of the Anbian Pennisula on whom "Allah had those to reveal His message. The Glorious Que"an came to them, and in their language. "Allah granted them enough time and opportunity to choose, as well as sending them concrete miractes through His Prophet (peazo be upon him) alongside the miracte of the Que"an. "Allah, the Exalted challenged them to come up with one chapter like the Glorious Que"an. He left them for twenty years after the revealation of Qu"an, but they missed on their stubbonness, arrogance, even their domination and persistent distortion of the rituals of Halj by entering the House of "Allah naked.

It is about those Arabs that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "I have been ordered (by "Allāh) to fight against the people until they testify that none has the right to be worshipped but "Allāh and that Muhammad is Messenger of "Allāh." 13

Thus many verses and hadfils referring to fighting non-Muslims are especially concerned with Arabis in the Arabis ne Penisusul and not general in all cases. This is according to the hadfilt recorded by scholars Arbiskhäry and Muslim that the Prophet speace be upon him said, "Expel the pagans from the Arabiar Peninsula." And according to what was recorded by scholars Ahmad and Muslim that the Prophet speace be upon him said, "I will expel the lews and Christians from the Arabiar Peninsula and will not leave any but Muslim." AFHBIÉN said in book AFF-Bif Chapter AF-libility and possible from the majority of scholars that this exclusion of non-Muslims especially applies to the Hijāz region (Makkah, Al-Madînah and Al-Yamāmah). ⁴ Verses should always be understood in context. The following verse was mentioned amid special text concerned with the Arabs of the Peninsula who held a covenant with Muslims and violated it. "Alláh says:

¹² Recorded by Al-Bukhäry (25) and Muslim (21).

لمؤمنينت ٿ€

covenant, and discredit your religion, then fight the leaders of disbellefs surely they have no (binding) caths, that possibly they would refrain. Will you not fight a people who breached their oaths and designed to drive out the Messenger, and it was they who began the first time against you? Are you apprehensive of them? Then "2Allah truly has more right (on you) to be apprehensive of Him in case you are believers." ("Ar-Tawbah, 9:12-13) which means, "And in case they breach their oaths after their

Similarly, the following verse must be seen in context, since it refers to certain Arabs, not people in general:

^{} Ibn Qudânah, Al-Mughny, vol. 8, p. 65, and Abu At-Taiyib Siddiq Al-Husiny, 'On Al-Bary Ishal adilat sahifi Al-bukhay, vol. 1, p. 156.

which means, "The ones to whom the multitude (iterally: mankind) said, "Surely the multitude have already gathered against you, so be apprehensive of them." Yet, it increased them in belief, and they said, "Pallah is The Reckoner enough for us, and how excellent is The Ever-Trusted Trusteel! ("Àl-furran, 3:173)

All people did not say to anyone, but to Na'm bin Mas'dd who gathered an army to fight the Propinet (peace be upon hin) and his Companions. Abu Sufyan is the one who gathered an army to fight the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Companions and not all people. It is crucial to keep this in mind when reflecting over the hadith mentioned earlier in which the Prophet says "I have been ordered (by "Alláh) to fight against the people until they testify that none has the right to be worshipped but "Alláh and that Muhammad is Messenger of "Alláh."

The verse that ordered the Muslims to fight those who do not believe in "Allâh till they give Jizyah (head-tax) is concerned with very special group from among People of the Book. "Allâh says, which means, "Fight the ones who do not believe in "Allâh nor in the Last Day, and do not prohibit whatever "Allâh and His Messenger have prohibited, and do not practice (fiterally: to have as a religion) the religion of Truth-from among the ones to whom the Book was brought-until they give the tax out of hand (ie, by a ready money payment, or in token of submission) and have been belittled." ("At-Tawbah, 9:29)"

¹⁵ Recorded by Al-Bukhāry (25) and Muslim (21).

When this verse was revealed, Arab Peninsula was already embraced Islam and Byzantine Christians were gathered in about one hundred fighters in order to attack Al-Madfnah, and then Battle of Mu'tah happened in order to face this crowd.

Jizyah in this verse is concerned with those group from among People of the Boak; those who did not believe in "Allah nor the Last Day and violated their covenant with Muslims. They acknowledged not the religion of truth and chose to fight. Their acceptance of Jizyah was not more than a way to end state of war and spare blood. Though Jizyah was never forced to them, it is a contract that sipulated their consent and not among general system that is to be imposed. "Belltifed" is to accept Judgment of Islam, its law, and consent to it. That is why fami of the Belevers 'Umar bin Al-Khatibh accepted protest of Christians of Taghlub against Jizyah and agreed to treat them according to system of Zakish. Imam Ash Shāfi'y in his book Al-Limm declared that if any person was included in contract of Jizyah of his garents while he was still young, he has the right when he gets older to accept this contract or refuse it.

Fighting and Peaceful Coexistence:

Islam stresses peaceful coexistence with all people, as "Allâh the Creator predestined that difference would exist in creeds, laws, colors, tongues, and nations.

2Allah says:

which means, "And if your Lord had foot decided, He would indeed have made man-kind one nation, and (i.e. but) they do not cease differing famorg themselves). Excepting the ones on whom your Lord has mercy, and He created them for that [end], and perfected has been the Word of your Lord, "Indeed I will definitely fill Hell with Jinn and mankind all together." (HGd, 11:118-119)

And He says:

"To every one of you We have made a legislation and a program. And if "Allah had so decided, He would indeed have made you one nation; but (He did not) that He may try you in what He has brought you. So race with each other in the charitable (deeds); to "Allah will be your return, altogether; so He will fully inform you of that wherein you used to differ." ("Al-Ma\a"idah, 5-48)

"Allāh informed us that He will judge between people on the Day of Resurrection in the matters of dispute. He did not leave it up to us to kill each other in vain over these differences especially since they are related to principles of faith and religion.

Accordingly, Islam does not deny rights of the non-Muslims, even those among them who deny Islamic law, and who deny rights of "Allah the Exalted. As "Allah reminds us, the basis of peaceful coexistence is found in the wisdom of His words:

which means, ""Allah does not forbid you (as regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them; surely "Allah loves the equitable," (Al-Mumahanah, 60:8)

Islam not only acknowledges the rights of non-Muslims without forcing them to embrace islam, but it even enables them to choose either to accept the judgments of Islam or to be judged by their own laws whether in personal or other affairs. This fairness is not found in major contemporary nations.

Contemporary constitutions adopt the principle of regional law and exclude issues of personal affairs, such as marriage, divorce and heritage. These are submitted to the law of the religion of spouses or that of the husband if they have different religion.

Large nations do not respect personal differences and consider their system for personal affairs sacred and above all others. Their systems are imposed on those who have other religions under the preferor. That it is under the general system of the country.

Consequently, Muslims in America, Britain, France, and elsewhere are forced to submit to secular law concerning issues of marriage, divorce and heritage.

On the other hand, Shari'ah (Islamic law) respects other religions, not only in issues of personal affairs, but in all issues related to these religions, Islam came with the intention that Shari'ah would not subject non-Muslims to Islamic law in personal issues or transactions, and would permit non-Muslims to be judged according to their own rules. ²³ Allfa says.

which means, "To every one of you We have made a legislation and a program."("Al-Mā"|dah, 5:48)

And He says:

savs:

which means, "And let the Population of the "Injil judge according to what "Allāh has sent down therein." ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:47)

Accordingly, the third article of the constitution of Al-Madinah set that "the Jews might continue to apply their own arbitration system in internal issues." That is to say, lews may be judged according to their own personal law previous to this constitution concerning solidarity. Divah (blood money), and other topics. By the same token, 'Amr bin Al-'As established after the Conquest of Fount special courts for Christians in which Christian judges ruled. When Muslims moved and settled outside the Arab Peninsula. they did so to defend and safeguard human rights that were usurped by small groups of tyrants. These oppressors represented a rank that sucked people dry, depriving them of a right to live in dignity in different parts of the world. The message of Islamic jihad (fighting in the cause of Allah) was to prevent such ranks from injustice and tyranny in order to guarantee free and safe living to mankind, and to alleviate the misery of the masses living under the authority of the ranks. In this manner people could live under a system and decree that would guarantee their happiness, and could choose the religion they wished to follow with their own free will. If they accepted the new religion, then the Muslims would make sure they did so without force or compulsion: "Allâh which means, "There is no compulsion in the religion; right-mindedness has already been evidently (distinct) from insiguidance." ("Al-Baqarah, 2:256)

In the same manner that Islam did not resort to means of coercion to increase the numbers of believers, it is important to mention here that when the Muslim state spread outside the Arabian Peninsula, it was not considered a means to amass riches and empower the state at the expense of peoples of these countries. The welfare of humanity was always the driving force behind its pursuits.

Document of Rights and the Constitution of Al-Madînah:

The rise of the Islamic State in Al-Madinah immediately, after the immigration of the Prophet (peace be upon him) was associated with the Prophet's (peace be upon him) establishment of a constitution which protected the rights of the people in the State, constitution which protected the rights of the people in the State, we regardless of their religions or national time. This constitution, as even have seen, was called the Declaration or Paper, and was composed of ninety-six articles that organized the rights of all. The following are among its most immortant articles:

First Jews have the same rights as Muslims; Christians were not found in Al-Maddinah. This constitution did not spore floose tho did not have religion, i.e. the heathen people. In Article 23, it set that "A polytheist dwelling in Al-Madfinah shall not grant april to people or properties belonging to the polytheists of the Ouraish".

Second: This article treated those polytheists as citizens having the same rights and obligations as others.

Third: This constitution did not use term of minority in order to indicate non-Muslims, though they were indeed a minority. It used the term "nation" for all. It set that Jews are a nation that lived with a nation of Muslims.

Fourth: The constitution established the right of people of other religions to practice all rituals related to their religion, Moreover, all items considered valuable by non-Muslims had to be protected, and Muslims who had caused damaged to the valuables of non-Muslims were required to compensate them. This applied even if the object damaged was prohibited or of no value in Islamic Shari'ah, such as wine or pig. This constitution also stipulated that Muslims had no right to cancel a marriage considered legal in non-Muslim law, even if this marriage is void in Islamic Shari'ah. As an example of this, we find that Imam Ash-Shāffi'v savs. 'We do not repeal any matter that they considered lawful among them, even if it is unlawful among us. If a woman from among them came to annul her marriage in our courts because she got married without witnesses, we cannot annul the marriage as long as it is considered marriage by them. But if a Muslim gets married without witnesses, our court can annul the marriage.116 This is because marriage without witnesses is void in Islam, but not so in other faiths.

Reality of Jihâd and Jizyah:17

"Allâh legislated Jihâd (fighting in the cause of "Allâh) in order to combat aggression and liberate mankind, in the same way that He legislated Jizyah in order to spare the blood of aggressors after putting its system.

Ibnul-Qayyim arranged the call to Jihad in his book Zâd Al-Ma'âd as follows:

¹⁶ See: Ash-Shāfi'v. Al-Umm. vol. 4, p. 211.

¹⁷ Salāḥ Al-Munjid, An-Nuzhum Ad-Diblūmāsiyyah fy Al-Islam, Beirut, Dår Al-Kitāh Al-Iadid. 1983. pp. 105-112.

The Prophet (peace be upon him maintained his call to Islam, inviving people to Islam for more than ten years without fighting, and was commanded to bear, be patient, and forgive. Then he was permitted to immigrate and to fight. Then "Allah, the Evaled ordered him to fight whoever fought him and to abstain from whover withdrew and did not fight him. After that, "Allah ordered him to fight dischedues of the Arabian Peninsula until religion and worship were directed to "Allah alone. Dischedieves the religion and worship were directed to "Allah alone. Dischedieves three divisions: those who were fighting him, people with a covernant, and Dhimmis (non-Muslims living in and under the protection of Muslim stabl.")

Accordingly, we can say that the legislation of Jihad passed through several phases, namely:

1. The initial call to Islam using evidence, wisdom, effective preaching, and argument in a civil, modest manner. However, people did not embrace Islam during this phase. Their attitude toward the call was an attitude of hostility and hatred. They directed all their anger toward the Prophet (peace be upon him) and his Companions, sighalying every form of oppression, compulsion, torture, and biockade. Despite their rancor, "Allahi ordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive." Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive." Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive." Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive." Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive." Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive. "Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and to fosqive." Allahi sordered the believers to be patient and the sorted the sorted the believers to be a sorted to the sorted t which means, "So profess openly what you have been commanded and veer away from the associators." ("Al-Hijr, 15:94)

And He says,

¹⁶ Ibn Al-gavim, Zád Af-Ma'ád, vol. 2, p. 91.

which means, "Take to clemency, and command benevolence, and veer away from the ignorant."(^Al-^Ac^caf, 7:199)

2. The phase of defending souls using actual force. During this phase, "Allah, the Exalted and ever Majestic, permits Muslims to push back the harm of disbelievers even if this entailed using weapons and fighting against them. This phase began after the immigration of the Prophet (peace be upon him). "Allah says:

which means. "The ones who are (forced to) fight are permitted (to defend themselves) for that they are unjustly (attackee); and surely "Allah is indeed Ever Determiner over giving them victory. (Those) who have been driven out of their residences untruthfully except that they say, "Our Lord is "Allah." ("Al-Laji), 22:39-40)

 Repelling aggression against soul and money. It is the natural right of Muslims to protect their honor and homes. All laws of previous and present nations consider it justified wars.

By defending the land over which they rule, Muslims are protecting their faith. Judge Abu Ya'lâ expressed this when he said, ' Defending the nation and guarding the boundaries [is the duty of Muslims] in order to help people lead peaceful and secure life.¹⁹

And "Allâh the Exalted ordered us to fight those who attack Muslims in order to prevent their aggressions and evils. "Allâh says, which means, "And fight in the way of "Allâh the ones who fight you, but do not transgress; surely "Allâh does not love the transgressors."("Al-Baqarah, 2:190)

So fighting to defend the land of Muslims is one of the aims of jihad, and every struggle with the aim of carrying out right and preventing aggression is jihad in the cause of "Allah. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "He who is killed while protecting his property is a martyr, and he who is killed while defending his family, his blood, or his religion is a martyr, "32".

Out of ignorance, some Muslims have misunderstood the judgment of Jigvah. Those of them who have been subjected to oppression by their countries and have sought refuge in the west, have often conveyed opinions on the Jizyah that are inaccurate, based on faulty interpretations of the verse that commands Muslims to fight non-Muslims.

¹⁹ Al-Abkim As-Sultiniovsh n 11.

N Recorded by At-Tirmidity, kitâb Ad-Diyydt (1418).

¹¹ Professor Wahbah Az-Zahily, Ath&r Al-Harb, p. 94.

هِ فَيَهُوا اللَّهِينَ لَا يُؤْمُونَ بِلَقِهِ وَلَا بِاللَّهِينَ اللَّهِينَ لَا خَرْمُونَ مَا حَرْمُ اللّهُ رَرْمُولُهُ وَلَا يَهِينُونَ فِينَ الْحَقِي مِنَ اللَّهِينَ أُومُوا اللَّكِنْفُ حَتَّى يُعْطُوا اللَّجَرَّيَة عَدْ يَعْمُ ضَعَادِينَ ﴿﴾

which means, "Fight the ones who do not believe in "Allah nor in the Last Day, and do not prohibit whatever "Allah and His Messenger have prohibited, and do not practice (literally: to have as a religion) the religion of Truth-from among the ones to whom the Book was brought-until they give the tax out of hand (i.e. by a ready money payment, or in token of submission) and have been belitted; "CAT Arawsha, 9-29".

This verse was revealed concerning Byzattine. After the Prophet (peace be upon him) send messages to kings and presidents calling them to Islam, Byzantine gathered forces to fight the Prophet (peace be upon him) and Austlins in their state of fight the Al-Madinah. And those who give legal opinion to take Jizyah from non-Austlins movadras are intendent of the following:

- Jizyah is a system that existed before Islam, as a form of poll tax. In its old form, Jizyah stipulated that any country defeated in war must pay tax to the victorious country. Thomas Arnold said, 'Christians chose to pay Jizyah instead of joining millitary service.'²³
- Islam reformed the system of Jizyah. It created a reason for its application and offered something in exchange for it. Non-Muslims were exempt from having to serve for the Muslim army and were not expected to fight for the Muslims by force. Those who volunteered to participate in war with Muslims. were free from paying the Jizyah. Abu ²² Thomas Arnold, The Preaching of Islam, p. 78.

'Ubaidah applied this with the people of Palestine who chose to fight; Mu'awiyah with the people of Armenia, as did many other Muslim rulers.

- 3. To further reform the system, Islam made the tax cover social welfare in that it guaranteed that the payee received a social subsidy from the Public Treasury. This was achieved despite the small amount that was paid by the non-Muslim. 'Umar bin Al-Xhattab established a law that if any man from among the Dhimmis (non-Muslims living in and under the protection of a Muslim state) becomes weak and incapable of work, then he and his family is to be supported from the public reseasury of Muslims.
 - 4. Significantly, those not capable of paying the lizvah were exempted, regardless of whether they were young or old. lizyah in the verse is concerning with this group of the People of the Book who did not believe in "Allah nor the Last day and breached their oaths. They did not practice the religion of truth. They chose fighting and aggression. That is why their accentance of lizvah was not more than a way to end state of war and spare blood. Though lizvah was never forced to them; it is a contract that stipulated their consent and not among general system that is to be imposed, "Belittled" is to accept judgment of Islam, its law, and consent to it. That is why Emir of the Believers 'Umar bin Al-Khattāb accepted protest of Christians of Taghlub against lizvah and agreed to treat them according to system of Zakāh. Imam Ash-Shāfi'y in his book Al-Umm declared that if any person was included in contract of lizvah of his parents while he was still young, he has the right when he gets older to accept this contract or refuse

- The Prophet (peace be upon him) reduced its amount to one Dinar for every adult, as is mentioned in hadith narrated by Mu'adh bin Jabal.
 He excused those who are engaged in fighting from
- He excused those who are engaged in fighting from paying (e.g. cleigymen, women, old people, and children).²⁴
- Islam exonerated people of Jizyah from proving their inability to pay. Hence it was the duty of the Muslim ruler to judge whether or not a person could pay.²⁵
- 8. Jizvah was not one of the obligations of Islam nor its rules. It was a contract that stipulated consent, and made room for negotiations; if no agreement was reached as to the terms of lizvah due to its cruel name in Byzantine and Persian states and the persons in question accept to pay Zakāh like Muslims, the ruler should honor their choice after explaining to them exactly what Zakâh involves (i.e. that it is a percentage of a person's total surplus wealth, whether in money or property, that is paid annually to the noor). They should also understand that Zakāh is not obligatory for them (since it is one of the five pillars of Islam which must be fulfilled by Muslims), and that paying lizvah is less than paying Zakâh. 'Umar bin Al-Khattâb (may "Allah be pleased with him) explained this to the Arab Christians when they protested against the lizvall, It is also important for them to know that Zakâh can only be paid if the payee possesses the minimum amount liable to

²³ Ash-Shāfi y, Al-Umm, vol. 4, p. 212, Ahkâm Ahl Adh-Dhimmah, thn Al-Oavim, ed. Subhy Sālih, p. 691.

²⁴ Ibn Al-Oavim, Ahkam Ahl Adh-Dhimmah.

²⁵ Ash-Shāti v. Al-Umm. op. 48, 212-311.

Zakah, for example, no payment of the Zakah on plants, is possible if the person does not own the minimum weight of five Wasq fequals 130320 grams), Imam Ash-shafi'y said, "If they ask Imam of Muslims to write them a contract on condition that Jizyah will be under the terms of Zakah, it is lawful as long as they possess sufficient money to allow them to pay Zakah according to Islam. If they possess plants, they will not pay Zakah ancording to Islam. If they possess plants, they will not pay Zakah until their plants reach five Wasqu⁴⁴.

- Jizyah is to be taken by the ruler and no one has the authority to demand it. When individuals tried to impose Jizyah, they were considered assailants of the authority of the state and were liable to questioning.
- 10. Under the international system, where all Islamic countries are committed to the laws of the United Nations, there is no longer such a system as the Jizyah, even when a country defeats a non-Muslim country that attacker that stipulated consent, there is no chance for Jizyah to be applied as long as Muslim countries are committed to international policies which stipulate that all are equal in terms of paving taxes.

Minorities and Jizyah:

The Reality of Jizyah:

Jizyah is a submission to authority of one state on behalf of non-Muslims without harming them. It used to be one Dinar which equals thirty Egyptian pisaters, in exchange for releasing them from performing military service and enjoying full social care.

²⁶ Ibid.

Jizyah is a known system found before Islam, set that defeated country should pay tax to victorious country. Islam came and reformed this system through freeing such people from performing military service in Islamic army, but if they joined Islamic army, they will not pay Jizyah, as Abu 'Ubaidab in JiAJarafa did with people of Palestine and as Mu'awiyah did with people of Armenia. As I set before.

Among what Islam had done to reform system of Jizyah that it made it a social system that guaranteed gaining social subsidy to its people from Public treasury. Though amount of Jizyah was small in first age that equaled one Dinar according to hadith narrated by Mu'adh, which is a very small amount of money.

And according to what PAllah says, which means, "Until they give the tax out of hand (i.e. by a ready money payment, or in token of submission) and have been belittled." ("At-Tawbah, 9:29)

Jöyah is not to be taken from poor and incapable people. Ash-Shafi'y said, if Imam of Muslims disagreed with one from among People of the Book about whether he is rich, poor, or between that. The say here is according to what this man had said except when Imam of Muslims proved with evidence other than what he said. Jizyah is not be given except with ability to do so. While "bellitted" in the verse means consent, Jurists depic septimed that consent is a condition in taking Jizyah. Ash-Shafi'y said, 'Il anyone from among People of the Book was absent when this covenant of Jizyah was done, he is not to be obliged to do what his nation agreed upon till he agrees. Their children also, are not obliged to pay Jizyah till they reach suitable age and when they reached this age, Jizyah is not to be paid except with their consent of what their fathers agreed upon. And if they wanted to pay Zakāh which Muslims pay, as they do not accept term of ligraph, it is lawful. As jizyah is not a selling contract that will be corrupted; it is according to consent of both parties. That is why, when Arab People of the Book hated term of Jizyah and asked to pay Zakāh, "Umar bin Al-Khatābā agreed on that."

Imam Axh-Shāfi'ş said, 'If they ask Imam of Auslims to write a covenant to them on condition that Jizyah will be with term of Zakāh, it is lawful as long as they posses an amount of money that allow them to pay Zakāh according to Islam, If they possess plants, they will not pay Zakāh till their plants reach five Wasq.' So there is no mean for Jizyah is contemporary countries where all their people submit to equal laws and rules including financial number.

And beside that, Jizyah was not a general system in dealing with non-Muslims countries during phase of Islamic State and strong Muslims and when non-Muslims countries used to ask for Muslims friendship. It was a special system concerned with worriers from amone them and it was an effect of effects of war.

State which adopts neutral situation between Muslims and their enemy, is to be treated with friendship and good neighborhood without paying Jizyah as the Prophet (peace be upon him) did with Banu Mudlii. "Allah says.

which means, "So, in case they keep apart from you (and) so did not fight you, and offer you submissiveness, then in no way does "Allâh allow you a way against them." ("An-Nisā". 4:90)²⁷

²⁹ See: after six section filtirām Al-Hiyādi fy Al-Manhaj Al-Islamy, p. 107.

Amount of Jizyah:

The compilers of the Sunan recorded that Mu*ald it may "Allah be pleased with him) narrated that when the Prophet (peace be upon him) sent him to Yemen, he ordered him to take from whoever attained age of puberty one Dinar or its equivalent in garments of that value.

Thomas Arnold comments on this:

"Most of the time, they 'Muslims' used to estimate lizyah according to what has been left with people from their income after subtracting their expenditures, as it was done with the people of Iraq in the Peninsula. The amounts of lizyah appointed by the first conquerors were not the same. Inam Abu Hanfah and Imam Mālik did not agree on some minor details which are of no importance."

We can find in the book Al-Khazij which was written by Abu Yūsuf in response to the demand of Harin Ar-Rashid (786-809 A.D. / 170-193 A.H.) evidence that shows generally the way according to which Muslims acted in collecting Al-Khazij (land tax) during the Abbasid Caliphate. The well-to-do had to pay 44 Dirhams a year, while those who were less than that like plowmen used to pay 12 Dirhams. The dirham equals almost 5 pence or 21 millieme. Sometimes, they presented the same amount in the form of caller, trade and goods instead. Even needles were accepted from them instead of paying money. Never were pigs, wine or dead animals accepted from them.²⁵

Aim of Imposing lizyah:

Thomas Arnold wrote.

²⁸ Thomas Arnold, The Preaching of Islam, p. 78.

The reason behind imposing such a tax on Christians—some European researchers want us to think-was not a form of punishment for refusing to embrace Islam. But it was imposed on all Dhimmis fiorn-huslims living in and under the protection of Muslim state). These were non-Muslims living under the protection of the Islamic State whose religion prevented them from serving in the army. It was paid in return of the protection provided for them by the Islamic State. "39"

When the people of Al-Hirah (place in Iraq) paid the money agreed upon, they stated frankly that they only naid such tax on the condition that "Muslims along with their Emir protect us against all aggression from either Muslims or others." Khâlid bin Al-Walîd while making a treaty with the people in cities near Al-Hirah said, "If we granted you protection, you are to give us the lizvah, but if we did not, do not." The following incident, which took place during the caliphate of 'Umar, shows that Muslims respected this condition very much: When Emperor Heraclius mobilized his troops to repel the Muslim forces, Muslims had to focus on the hattle. Abu 'Ubaidah, the leader of Muslims heard of this matter, and wrote to the rulers that had been appointed over cities conquered by Muslims in Shām (region covering Syria, Palestine, Jordan and Lebanon). He gave them orders that lizvah is to be returned to people. He wrote a speech to the people saying, "We have returned your money because we have been informed of the army waiting for us while you have stipulated that we protect you. We are incapable of doing that at the moment. So, we give you back what has been taken from you. But, still we respect your condition and our treaty and offer our protection when "Allah grants us victory over them." This way, huge amounts of money were returned from the State's treasury. Christians invoked the Blessings of God to Muslim leaders and they said, "May God return you safely to us and may He grant you victory over them (Byzantines). If it were them, they would not have paid any money. They would have taken anything that was left for us." So

²⁹ ibid.

Who must pay Jizyah?

Thomas Arnold wrote that the lizvali was not a form of punishment for not embracing Islam but it was the alternative to military service. Izvah was imposed on capable males, for if they were Muslims, they would have been asked to serve in the army, It is clear that any Christian group was exempted from such tax if it served in the Muslim army. This is precisely what occurred with the Tribe of Al-Iaraiimah. It was a Christian tribe near Antioch which made peace with the Muslims and promised to support and help them in their battles on the condition that no lizvah be taken from them and that their booty would be distributed fairly. When the Islamic conquests reached the north of Persia in 22 A. H., such an alliance was made with one of the tribes that lived on the borders of this country. It was exempted from paying fizzah in return for serving in the army. There are many examples of such exemption concerning Christians who served in the army or the fleet during the Turkish dynasty.

Finally, by 19/1/1869 A.D., the Ottoman Caliphate issued the nationality law which canceled the obligation of Jizyah on non-Muslims and which made military service obligatory on them.

³⁸ Thomas Amold, The Preaching of Islam, p. 78.

Chapter Two

Social Relations: The Balance between Al-Walâ' and Al-Barâ'

Chapter Topics:

- i- Al-Walâ', Al-Barâ' and citizenship.
- ii- Al-Walâ', Al-Barâ' and the Fatwas of the Ministry of Religious Endowments.
 - iii- Islamic judgment concerning social relations.
 - iv- Testimony of non-Muslims and seeking their help.
 v- Followed method in disagreeing with non-Muslims.
 - vi- Forbiddance of perfidy and transgressing against society.
 - vii-Rights of foreigner in Islamic countries.
 - viii- Islamic view concerning the subjects of hostile country.
 - ix- Situation of Jews and judgment of other than Jews.
 - x- Non-Muslims and the Palestinian issue.

Chapter Two: Social relations: The Balance between Al-Walâ' and Al-Barâ'

Al-Walâ', Al-Barâ' and Citizenship;

Rights of Citizenship, Al-Walâ' and Al-Barâ':

"Allah ordered Muslims to be one nation supporting and defending each other; He also ordered them to be disloyal to those who fight against "Allah, His Messenger and the believers. Islamic jurisprudence defined this principle as the doctrine of loyalty and Al-Baat' (disavowing non-Muslims), which requires that Muslims be disloyal to the enemies of "Allah and the enemies of the believers in all transactions, dealings and businesses that harm believers and support their enemy. This is especially important since being loyal to the enemies of "Allah may cause Muslims to apostatize from Islam." Allah says:

which means, "You will not find any people who believe in "Allah and the Last Day having affection for the ones who contravene "Allah and His Messenger, even if they were their fathers, or their sons, or their brothers, or their kinsmen. (As for those, he has written belief in their hearts, and he has aided them with a spirit from himself; and he will cause them to enter garders from beneath which rivers run, eternally (abiding therein. "Allah is satisfied with them, and they are satisfied with him. Those are the party of "Allâh; verily the party of "Allâh are surely they (who) are the prosperers." ("Al-Mujādalah, 58:22) which means, "You see many of them patronizing the ones who have disbelleved. So miscable indeed is whatever their selves have forwarded for them, that "Allâh has been wrathful against them, and in the tomment they are eternally (abiding). And if they had believed in "Allâh and the Prophet and what has been sent down to him, in no way would five have taken them to themselves as patrons; but many of them are immoral." ("Al-Midish, 5:80-80).

And He says-

For this reason, some Muslims, out of caution, forbade dealing with non-Muslims in many matters that are not included in the original concepts of loyalty and disloyalty. Hence they forbade visiting sick non-Muslims, congratulating them on happy occasions, and taking part in their funeral processions.

The Concepts of Wala' and Al-Bara':

Loyalty means loving, supporting, and following others in words and deeds. ⁵Allâh says:

which means, "Surely your Ever-Patronizing patrons is only "Allāh; and His Messenger, and the ones who have believed." ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:55)

Al-Bara' means disavowal of the enemies of Islam and disloyalty to them either in words or actions. "Allah says:

﴿ لَا يَتُخِذُ ٱلْمُؤْمِنُونَ ۖ وَكُنِي الْمُؤْمِنِينَ أَوْلَيْنَا فِينَ لِللَّهِ فَيْسَ لَا خُلِكَ فَيْسَ which means, "The believers should not take to themselves the disbelievers for constant patrons, apart from the believers; and he who performs that, (then) he has nothing (to look to) from "Alläh." ("Âl-^cImrān, 3:28)

which means, "You will not find any people who believe in "Allah and the Last Day having affection for the ones who concravese." Allah and His Medsenger, even if they were their fathers, or their sons, or their brothers, or their finamen, (4s hot fathers, or their sons, or their brothers, or their finamen, (4s hot those, the nat written belief in their hearts, and He has aided them with a spirit from Himself, and He will cause them to enter gardens from beneath which rivers run, eternally labiding therein. "Allah is satisfied with Hemn, and they are satisfied with Hemn, and they are satisfied with them, and they are satisfied with them. Those are the party of "Allah; verify the party of "Allah are surely they who are the porcorester," EJAM-middalsh, 3s:2.2

Not showing loyalty to polytheists does not mean not dealing with them or turning away from them and declaring war against them. To be disloyal means to disavow their creeds, since these may lead some to desert Islam;; it also means to disavow their legislations which oppose the legislation of "Allâh and His judgment." Allâh says:

which means, "Is it then the judgment of (pagan) ignorance that they inequitable seek? And who is fairer in judgment than "Alláh, for a people having certitude?" ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:50)

Loyalty to them means preferring them to the believers, and supporting them and accepting the beliefs and legislations which opposed Islam.

That is why "Allah says:

which means, "And whoever of you patronizes them, then surely he is one of them." ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:51)

And He says.

which means, "Surely "Alláh only forbids you as to the ones who have lought you on account of the religion, and driven you out of your residences, and backed (others) in driving you out, that you should patronize them, and whoever patronizes them, then those are they who are unjust." ("Al-Munttalpank, 60:9)

Imam At-Tabary (may ³Allāh mercifully rest his soul) says in explaining the above verse: The meaning here is. Whoever is loyal to Jews and Christians against believes, is one of them. Whoever is Joyal to them and supports them against the believes; is one of the people of this religion and creed. No one can be Joyal to others unless he is part of them and is content with that. If he is content with their beliefs and their religion, he becomes an enemy and hates whatever disagrees with the fbeliefs of those he has supported), and wiff be judged according to the same judgments that are applied to these people. That is why the scholars who judged between the Christians of Baru Itapla bin their sacrifices, maringe, and others issues, judged according to values of Christians of Baru Itapla is their sacrifices, maringe, and others issues, judged according to values of Christians of Baru Itapla is they were loyal to them, contrated with their creed, and supporters of them; even if they were of different kinship and religious origin, it.

Shelkh Muhammad Rashid Ridå commenting on Ar-Tabary's words *United being loyal to religion, since during the time of the Prophet polytheiss and the People of the Book railled in showing enmit towards the Muslims and their new faith, However, loyalty, disagreement or support could happen between two parties of different religions in matters of wordly interest or benefit. Hence if Muslims show loyalty to a non-Muslim nation against another non-Muslim nation, since this is in the Muslims' best interest, this disagreement is not considered disloyalty, since it is not avainst other Muslims. ²⁰

Al-Khāzin said in explanation of the same verse, 'Whoever shows loyalty to Jews and Christians against believers, supporting them against believers, is among sepole of this religion, as no one can show loyalty to others unless he is contented with them and their religion, in which case, he becomes one of them. This teaching is from "Allah, the Exalted and a great embasis on abandoning the standard of the case o

³¹ At-Tabary, Tafsir, vol. 6, p. 179.

¹² Tafsir Al-Manär, vol. 16, pp. 148-431.

Jews, Christians and whoever disagrees with the religion of Islam.¹³

While A-Qasimy mentioned in his book Mafakin A-Ta'vil, You should know that loyalty, which is to consult with and reveal secres to polytheists, is unlawful. Then what is to be said of scholars permitting marriage to a polytheist woman, a matter that involves intimacy and sharing secrets with this woman? The answer to that is that a display of loyalty involves matters of religion and whateve glorifles it. It is clear now that whoever shows loyalty to a polytheist is a sinner, but to what extent? This requires some explanation.

'if loyalty means love, and if a person loves another person because of his sin; that would mean accepting his sin. If loyalty causes disbelief, he would be a polytheist and if it causes transgression, he would be committing transgression. But if it causes neither disbellef nor transgression, he would be neither polytheist nor committing transgression.

"Il loyalty means all'ance and support, then there are two views. An alliance in a lawful and obligatory matter, such as when Muslims defend Dhimmis (non-Muslims living in and under the protection of a Muslim state) against attackers, is in fact the duly of Muslims. An alliance in an unlawful matter, such as agreeing to swindle Muslims no rhave authority over them, is without doubt sinful. Revealing the secrets of Muslims and seeking safery among polytheists not because of their beliefs, but because of their authority or because they are kin, is sinful, but does not classify as disabled, since it was never reported that the Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) judged Hatip bin Abu Balta'ah to be a polytheist." "

^{33 [}bid, vol. 16, pp. 81-82.

³⁴ Al-Qasımy, Mahasin At-Ta'wil, vol. 4, pp. 80, 81& 82.

Al-Qasimy also said, 'What gives rise to disbelief in matters of loyalty is contentment with disbelief. What causes transgression is contentment with transgression.³⁵

Sheikh Muhammad Rashid Ridda said, 'forbidden in the issue of showing loyally is when Muslims show loyally to Jews and Christians and make alliances with them to support them against other Muslims or to convenee with them against other Muslims. But making alliance with non-Muslims in ways that will benefit the believers or preventing harm from them is a matter of discretion which the majority of scholars have permitted.*

The Concept of Citizenship:

Man is naturally disposed to love himself and protect his being, and has the natural disposition to love family and community. Family formed the foundations of first humanity. When people spread all over world, and similar groups formed the societies in which they lived, individuals moved from the circle of family and tribe to the circle of society. That is why individuals of a society belong to it besides belonging to their families. This sense of identity implies obligations and creates loyalty toward society, which is ultimately defined as citizenship.

A citizen is one who belongs, according to his origin and traditions, to a specific homeland; he becomes a citizen according to the nationality laws stipulated in this country. However, the concept of "citizenship" is more comprehensive and carries deeper meanings than being a national of a particular country, it implies identity and belonging to a certain place. A person may acquire the nationality of a country other than his own, but while his passport delines who he is, he may not feel a sense of true belonging in that country.

³⁵ Ibid

³⁶ Tafsir Al-Manar, vol. 16, pp. 81, 82,

Homeland in Islam:

Emergence of terms like 'patriotion' and 'nationalism' has led the many to inquire how lefam views such terms. The utmost that those singing in praise of patriotism call for is love of the homeland and its defense. However, the urge to love and protect one's country is instinctive, and Islam demands it of us, so patriotism does not add anything new. The Prophet (peace be upon him) held Makklah, his homeland, dear to his heart. He said: "You are a good land, and I love you; were it not that my people expelled me from you, I would never dwell in any land other than you."

The utmost that callers of nationalism ask for is caring for the human clan and for ones people, and defending them when necessary.

However, this spirit is already ordered and greatly encouraged by

Islam. "Allâh made it one of the degrees of faith to love ones nation, and to defend ones homeland and sacrifice soul and money for it is to attain nothing less than marryrdom. "Allâh says:

which means, "And what is it with you, that you do not fight in the way of "Allâh, the way) and of the ones deemed weak among the men, women and newborns." ("An-Nisa", 4:75)

Abu Dāwûd and At-Tirmidhy recorded that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "He who is killed while protecting his religion is a ¹⁷ Recorded by Ahmad, Al-Musnad, vol.4, p.305, Al-Tirmidhy, vol.5, p. 722, n.3926, and Ibn Mājah, vol. 2, p. 1037.

^{.....}

martyr, and he who is killed while defending his blood, or his family is a martyr."

In Islam, there is no contradiction in belonging to all of ones religion, family, homeland, and race, as there is no contradiction between bonds that connect individual with wife, children, and parents, or the greater community.

Al-Walâ', Al-Barâ' and Fatwâ of the Ministry of Religious Endowments:

There have often been questions raised as to how non-Muslims should be treated on different occasions, and whether or not they are entitled to receive good wishes from their Muslim compatriots. Over a number of years, the Ceneral Committee for Fatwa in the Ministry of Religious Endowments and Islamic Affairs in Kuwait was consulted on the Islamic lawfulness of different issues. Their answers were decisive, and the following are Fatwas issued accordingly:

- Farva # 7/4/1978, recorded in # 642 which includes: legality of taking part in comforting and condoling the People of the Book in times of grief, and in attending their funerals, without any participation in their religious rituals which include observing the trinity, etc. Another fatwal with the same meaning is found in # 9/62/1988 recorded in # 1.40.
- 2. Fatwal # 1/7/1986, recorded in # 699 which includes: legality of expressing congratulations or sharing in the joy of non-Muslims on the occasions of marriage, childbirth, safety leg from an accident, good health, returning from travel, and new year festivals, as long as these wishes do not involve forbidden matters in Islam like observing the trinity in religious festivals.

- Fatwå # 1/9/4/1985, recorded in #1007 which includes: paying blood money of non-Muslims to his/her family.
- 4. Fatwa # 1/425/1987, recorded in # 1166 which includes: legality of dealing with non-Muslims in buying and selling, even if the money of the non-Muslim comes from a prohibited or dubious source, since what mattes is that the Muslim undergoes his transactions with honesty and purity, while the sin of misconduct will fall upon the person who has earned his money in an unlawfull manner,
- 5. Falva # 3/445/1987, recorded in # 1160 which includes legality of hiring non-Muslims. The Prophet (peace be upon him) used to deal with Jews and Christians in selling, and buying, which included hiring them in certain jobs. As long as such an arrangement does not lead to dissipation and corruption, then it is entirely acceptable in Islam.
- Fatwâ # 8/24/1983, recorded in # 327 which includes: legality of hiring non-Muslim. Similar to # 5
 Fatwâ # 6/64/1987, recorded in # 1890 which includes:
- Fatwå # 6/54/1987, recorded in # 180 which includes: legality of giving Sadaqah (charity) to People of the Book (i.e. the lews and Christians).
- Fatwa # 4/462/1987, recorded in # 368 which includes: legality of a Muslim visiting a non-Muslim at home or work with the intention of treating him with kindness and goodness, as mentioned in the Our an.
- Fatwå # 7/62/1988, recorded in # 1400 which includes: A Muslim loving a wife who is from the People of the Book, as long as his love for her does not challenge his loyalty to Islam.

10. Fatvá # 1/449/1988, recorded in # 1531 which includes: unlawfulness of trickery and fraud in any dealings with non-Muslims related to trade and finance. A Muslim must never revert to deception, and should certainly not take money from others without consent.

Social Relations with Non-Muslims:

Social relations with neighbors, citizens and others from among non-Muslims are not forbidden. As DAlláh says.

which means, ""Allah does not forbid you (as regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them; surely "Allah loves the equitable. Surely" Allah only forbids you as to the ones who have foorbit you on account of the religion, and driven you out of your residences, and backed (others) in driving you out, that you should patronize them; and whoever patronizes them, then those are they who are unjust." ("Al-Muntahanah, 60-81).

The following are some of the social relations that Muslims may uphold with their non-Muslim compatitots. Social relations of the nature shown below are not prohibited or considered disloyalty, and Muslims are required to remember that "Allâh commands us to show benevolence to all beings:

1. Visiting Sick Non-Muslims:

35 Fath Al-Bary, vol. 3, p. 221.

Visiting sick non-Muslims is considered piety. SAllâh, the Exalted says:

which means, "That you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them." ("Al-Mumtahanah, 60:8)

Al-Bukhāry recorded that Anas (may "Allāh be pleased with him) narrated that a Jewish boy used to servant the Prophet (peace be upon him). Once he fell ill, and the Prophet (peace be upon him) visited him and said to him, "embrace Islam." So he embraced Islam."

And Al-Bukhāry also recorded that the Prophet (peace be upon him) visited his uncle Abu Tālib in his sickness. Al-Bukhāry gave this chapter the title of 'Iyādatul-Mushrik (visiting polytheist in sickness)."

Preparing the Dead of Non-Muslims for burial and Following their Funerals:

It is obvious that a Muslim will wash his non-Muslim relative and bury him, especially if this relative does not have anyone else to do so.

There is guidance in the Quran seen in the sons Âdam (Adam, peace be upon him) when one of them killed the other. Allâh says:

³⁶ Fath Al-Báry, vol. 10, p. 119. Al-Haithamy, Mujamma' Az-Zawá'id, vol. 2, p. 300. and recorded by Al-Bukháry, Sahin, vol. 3, p. 219.

which means, "Then "Allah sent forth a raven searching into the earth to show him how he should overlay the shameful parts of his brother. He said "Oh wee to me! Ann I unable to be like this raven, land so overlay the shameful parts of my borther?" so he became among the remorseful." "PALMA" "dah, 5.31)

Taking part in the funerary procedures of a non-Muslim is not prohibited, since it not considered loyalty towards him in a forbidden matter.

It says enough that when the Prophet's (peace be upon him) uncle. Abu Tālib died, he ordered 'Ay, Abu Tālib's oan and the blessed Prophet's son-in-faw, to wash, enshroud and bury him. "This included following his funeral procession. Ash-Shāfi'shya tagreed that it is obligatory to enshroud a person who dies from the People of the Book and bury them. Should they have no money to cover expenses themselves, then expenses should be taken from the public treasury of Muslims, since we are commanded to feed and clother him during his lifetime if he is incapable of doing 30."

Many jurists allowed following funerals of non-Muslims, since it counts as piety. It was narrated that the mother of Al-Haříth bin Abu Rabī'ah died a Christian and he followed her funeral accompanied by group of Companions. If ⁴⁰ Recorded by Abu Däwürl and An-Nasä'v.

As-San'any, Al-Musannaf, vol. 6, p. 39.
 Muhammad Ash-Shirbiny, Mughny Al-Muhtaj, vol. 1, p. 348.
 Al-Kasany, Bada'l' As-Sana'l', vol. 1, p. 303.

3. Visiting the Graves of Non-Muslims:

The majority of scholars allowed visiting graves of non-Muslins, as there is no direct prohibition and visiting their graves is not a form of loyalty to them. Furthermore, the Taimiyah furnished evidence of its Aufuliess, since the Prophet (gaccobe upon himmore said, "I asked permission of my Lord to ask forgiveness for my mother. He did not consent, so I asked His permission to visit the grave, and He allowed me. Visit graves as they remind you of the Hersufer "*!

4. Comforting Non-Muslims:

Comforting non-Muslims, giving condolences, giving them your time, advising them to be patient and accept fate, are all out forbidden and count as piety which "Alláh ordered us to have. That is why Al-Hanábliah recorded by Ahmade", Al-Hanáhjah recorded by Ahmade", Al-Hanáhjah recorded by themselves, and Ash-Sháfi'njah aareed uoon the leaality of conforting non-Muslims. ⁵⁰

Whoever says to a non-Muslim while comforting him ALBaqa'i lillâh ("Allâh alone will remain forever), Akhlafa Allâhu 'alainā wa 'alaik (May "Allâh compensate san dyou), Jazāka allāhu khairan 'anhu (May "Allâh give you reward for being patient), or any other form of condolence that does not disagree with the rules of Islam, is not committing a forbidden act in Islam.

5. Buying Garments from Non-Muslims:

Muslims during the lifetime of the Prophet (peace be upon him) used to import clothes from Yemen, Egypt, and Shâm (Syria, Lebanon, Palestine, Jordan) before the people of these countries [&]quot; Zád Al-Ma'åd, vol. 2, p. 425.

⁴⁵ Fath Al-Bary Sharh Sahih Al-Bukhary, vol. 7, p. 45.

[&]quot;tbn Qudamah, Al-Mughny, vol. 2, p. 2405.
"Ibn 'Abdin, Häshiyah, vol. 5, p. 248 and Ibn Al-Qayyim, Ahkâm Ahl Adh-Dhimmah, vol. 1, p. 204.

embraced Islam and used to wear them without washing them (as washing is the basic rule is ensure their purity). Among those from which the Muslims bought the garments from were Magi and polytheists.

Ibn Taimiyah mentioned in AFratawa numbers 28, 29 and Al-Khatalaby in Adalfam As-Sunan, vol.4, p.257 hita the Quddamal said in AI-Mughny vol.1, p.62, There is no disagreement between scholars about legality of prayer that is performed while wearing clothes that are woven by polyheists at the Messenger of Pallah (peace be upon him) and his Companions used to wear clothes that were woven by polyheists.)

6. Using Vessels of Non-Muslims:

The Prophet's (peace be upon him! Hadiths prove the lawfulness of using the vessels of non-Muslims, both the People of the Book and polytheists, Jabir (may "Allah be pleased with him) narrated, "When we were with the Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) in a battle and found vessels and skins of the polytheists and used them, he did not object." Recorded by Al-Bukhāry and Muslim.⁴⁶

Ibn Sirîn said, 'Companions of the Messenger of ³Allâh (peace be upon him) used when overpowered polytheists to eat and drink in their vessels. 49

7. Sacrifices of the People of the Book and Polytheists:

People of the Book are Jews and Christians. There is no prohibition in eating from the animals they slaughter for food. ²Allâh says:

⁴⁶ Fath Al-Báry, vol.1, p.448, Subul As-Salám, vol.1, p.44, and Nail Al-Awter, vol.1, p. 13.

⁴⁷ As-Sarkhasy, Sharin As-Sayr Al-Kabir, vol. 1, p. 145 and Al-Khattaby, vol. 4, p. 256.

which means, "And the food of the ones to whom the Book was brought is lawful to you, and your food is made lawful to them." ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:5)

The Prophet (peace be upon him) was asked once about the food of the Christians and said, "Never feel any doubt about the lawfulness of any kind of food just because it is similar to a food of the Christians."

That is to say, do not avoid their food. Although they are polytheists, since they consider "Allah part of a Trinity, and Jesus the son of "Allah, "Allah allowed their sacrifices and allowed marrying from among their women and named them the People of the Book. However, polytheists who do not worship the same deity are considered infidels, not from among People of the Book but idolaters. Atheists, magi (who worship fire) are among those who do not count. The sacrifices of these people are forbidden to Muslims, since only the food of the People of the Book is mentioned as permissible in the Our2an. Oais hin Sakan Al-Asady (may "Allâh be pleased with him) parrated that the Messenger of PAllah (peace be upon him) said, "If it happens that you come down to the countryside of Persia, you may buy meat and eat thereof even if the seller is a lew or a Christian," Recorded by Ahmad and said, 'And he excluded fishing, as it is not among sacrifices,1 51

8. Exposure of Muslim women to non-Muslims:

Muslim women during daily life mix with other women, and need not wear Islamic dress as long as strange men are not present in their company. This is also lawful if the women in question are 51 Fath Ai-Bâry, vol. 9, p. 614.

⁵⁰ Recorded by At-Tirmidhy, Tuhfatul-Ahwadhy, vol. 5, p. 182, non-Muslims, as Shāfi'iy, Māliky, \underline{H} anbaly, and some $\underline{\underline{H}}$ anafy scholars upheld this. 52

Such scholars derived their evidence from the following verse.

Allâh says, which means, "And not display their adornment except to their husbands, or their fathers, or their husbands' fathers, or their sons, or their bothers, or their bothers, or their bothers, or their bothers' sons, or their sisters' sons, or their women." ("An-Nür, 24:31)

The scholars state that a Muslim woman is allowed to reveal her adornment to another woman, either Muslim or non-Muslim, as the word "woman" here includes women in general.

While those who adopted the other point of view derived their evidence from the same verse to prove that a Muslim woman is not allowed to reveal herself to a non-Auslim woman and took the verse to mean Muslim women only; according to them, any non-Auslim woman is like man to a Muslim woman. Those who uphold that it is not prohibited restrict the parts of the body that must remain covered as the area between the navel and the knee, unless there is a necessity for revealing it, like in front of woman doctor. A Muslim woman is allowed to reveal to non-Muslim woman whatever part from her body for necessity of treatment. There is disagreement, however, the general rule is inth there should be no prohibition without evidence from the Qur an of Sunnah, for $^{\circ}\text{All}ah$ says:

 $^{^{52}}$ lbn Al-Yaraby, Afrikām Al-Qur'hn, vol. 3, p. 1372 and fbn Qudâmah, Al-Mughny, vol. 7, p. 1057.

which means, "And He has expounded whatever He has prohibited to you-except whatever you are constrained to." ("Al-"An cam, 6:119)⁵¹

9. Greeting Non-Muslims:

There are several texts that forbade Muslim to be the first in greeting non-Muslim. Among them is the hadth in which the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, 'Do not greet the Jews and the Christians before they greet you and when you meet any one of them on the roads force him to go to the narrowest part of it.*

Practical implementation shows that this was due to the many conspiracies of Jews; that is why some of the followers of Ash-Sháfiy agreed that to begin with the greeting is not approved of, but is likewise not prohibited.

There are also texts that allowed greeting them, which is why some jurists supported it and used as evidence the following verses:

which means, "Peace be upon you." (Maryam, 19:47)

And He says:

⁵³ Ibn Qudămah, Al-Mughny, vol. 7, p. 464, Hāshiyatul-Jamal 'alā sharh Al-Manhai, vol. 4, p. 124, Al-Qāsimy, Maḥāsin At-Ta'wil, vol. 12, p. 169, Ar-Rāzy, Ar-Taisr Al-Kabir, vol. 23, p.208, Al-Allay, Röh Al-Ma'āny, vol. 18, p. 143.
Recorded by Muslim, Sabih, vol. 4, n.1707.

which means, "Yet pardon them, and say, "peace!" ("Az-Zukhruf, 43:89)

Ibn 'Uyainah was once asked: 'Is it lawful to greet polytheists?' He said: 'Yes, for "Allāh says:

which means, ""Allâh does not forbid you (as regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them." ("Al-Mumtahanah, 60:8)⁵⁵

There is also the hadth narrated by Abu Umfamah (may "Allah be pleased with him") that the Messenger of "Allah pleace be upon him) said, "Those who are nearest to "Allah are those who are first to give a salutation." Se ha narration by 'Aishah, Mother of the Believers (may "Allah be pleased with her), may give rise to disagreement in opinion. She (may "Allah be pleased with her) narrated, "A group of [ews entered upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) and said, 'As-Samu 'Alaikum', (Be. death be upon you). I understood it and said, 'Wa-'Alaikum 'As-Samu wal-la'nah. (And may death and the curse of "Allaik be upon you!" Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) said, 'Be calm, O 'Aishah "Allah loves that one should be kind and lenient in all matters: 'Said,' O Messenger of "Allah Haven't you head what they (the Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of "Allah Haven't you head what they (the Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of "Allah Haven't you head what they (the Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they time Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they time Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they time Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they time Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they time Jews) have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Jecace be upon him said, 'I have the you have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Jecace be upon him said, 'I have the you have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Jecace be upon him said, 'I have the you have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they the Jews have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Jecace be upon him said, 'I have the you have said' 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they the Jews have said 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they the Jews have said 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they the Jews have said 'The Messenger of Allah Haven't you head what they have have have head they have have have have have have have head

⁵⁵ Al-Ourtuby, Tafsir, vol. 11, p. 111 & vol. 18, p. 55,

⁵⁶ Recorded by Abu Däwüd, n.5197 and An-Nawawy, Al-Majmü⁴, vol. 4, p. 418.

(already) said (to them), 'and (the same) upon you!" And in another narration he (peace be upon him) answered her, 'Did not you hear how I replied to them? (My supplication) will be answered against them and theirs will not be answered against me." Al-Bukhay recorded that the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, 'Il (any among) People of the Book greeted you, you should say, 'And (the same) upon you." Say, 'And (the same) upon you."

Concerning returning of greeting of them; scholars agreed together upon that as PAllâh says,

"And when you are greeted with a greeting, then greet a fairer one than it, or give it back again." ("An-Nisā", 4:86) 59

10. Testimony of Non-Muslims:

If a Muslim is travelling with non-Muslims, and for fear of death decides to declare his final will, he may appoint two non-Muslim witnesses, and their testimony will be accepted according to Imam Ahmad and others⁶⁰. As "Alláh says, which means, "O you who have believed, the testimony between you, when death is present to any of you while bequeathing, shall be two (men) with a sense of justice or two others from other (folk)." ("Al-Má"idah, 5:106)

Recorded by Al-Bukhåry, vol. 11, p. 42 and by Muslim, vol. 4, n.1706.
 Fath Al-Bäry, vol. 11, p. 42.

¹³ Ibid, vol. 2, p. 425.

[∞] Ibid.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) applied this when one Muslim man died in a country that had no Muslims. 61

As for the phrase, "With a sense of justice", Muslims with integrity have the priority to be witnesses, but if no Muslim witnesses are available, then the testimony of non-Muslims is to be accepted. This is confirmed in the previous verse, and was applied by the Prophet (peace be upon him).

Ibnul-Qayyim said, 'The Glorious Qur'ān and Sunnah prove the lawfulness [of this]. The meaning is not negated by other verses, since this is among the last verses revealed in the Qur'ân. The companions of the Prophet (peace be upon him) judged according to this verse.'

11. Seeking Help from Non-Muslims:

Today, as in the days of the Prophet (peace be upon him), it is lawful to seek help from non-Muslims in whatever areas they may excel in. This applies to both the People of the Book and polytheists.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) hired 'Abdullâh bin Uraiqit as a guide in his emigration from Makkah to Al-Madfinah and he was polytheist, while other polytheists sat in wait, expecting the Prophet (peace be upon him) to kill him.

The mission of this polytheist was to guide the Prophet (peace be upon him) on the road according to his experience in travelling it. If trust and confidence were limited to Muslims only, the Prophet (peace be upon him) would not have ursued 'Abdullah bin Uraiqit and the revealed Qur'an would not have accepted testimony of non-Muslims during travels, as we have seen.

PAllah says,

⁴¹ Recorded by At-Tirmidhy, n.3061 and by Abu Dāwūd, n.3606.

⁶² Ibn Al-Qayyim, Zâd Al-Ma'âd, vol. 3, pp. 143-149.

which means, "O you who have believed, the testimony between you, when death is present to any of you while bequeathing, shall be two (men) with a sense of justice or two others from other (fishls "CALMAZidals 5:106)

The Prophet (peace be upon him) entered Makkah after returning from At-Ta'if protected by Mut'im bin 'Udayy after the people of Makkah allied not to give him access to the holy city. 63

When Sa'd bin Abu Waqqâs was ill during the farewell Hajj, the Prophet (peace be upon him) asked Al-Hārith bin Kildah who was a non-Muslim doctor to treat him. ⁶⁴

12. Exchanging Gifts and Congratulations:

Alláh bases social life between all people on the brotherhood of mankind, and does not limit transactions, love, and compliments to brotherhood in religion only. Palláh says, which means, "O you mankind, surely We created you of a male and a female, and We have made you races and tribes that you may get mutually acquainted. Surely the most honorable among you in the providence of "Allah are the most pious; surely "Allah is ever-knowing, ever-cognizant." ("Al-Hujurat, 49:13)

Al-Majmü', vol. 4, p. 421 and fbn 'Abdin, Háshiyah, vol. 5, p. 265.
 Al-Qurtuby, Tafsīr, vol. 11, p. 112.

The twentieth century martyr, Sayvid Qufb said in his book Fy Zhilid AFQur'a commenting on this verse, The One Who beckons you with the words "O you mankind" is the One Who created you, He informed you of the reason you have been created in nations and tribes. This reason is not so that you flight and show each other hostility, but that you become acquainted with each other and live peacefully together. Differences in tongues, colors, natures, manners, talents and tendencies must not cause conflict and squabbling lover these differences!, You must cooperate to fulfill your role on earth and together meet your needs.'

When Salman Al-Fairsy first came to Al-Madinah, he was not yet a Nuslim. He knew that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was dignified and would not accept charity. He entered upon the Prophet (peace be upon him) and said, 'I respect your dignity and I present a gift to you, not a Sadaqah (charity).' The Prophet (peace be upon him) extended his hand and ate, and so did the Companions. Al-Haffah Al-Hagy commented on this saying, This hadth shows the lawfulness of accepting gifts from a polytheist as Salman had not embaced klaim at that line. 480

How Muslims should Express Disagreement with Non-Muslims:

It is one of "Allah's great miracles in creation that people differ in their religions, race and languages. "Allah says, which means, "And of his signs is the creation of the heavens and the earth and the differences of your tongues and colors. Surely in that are indeed signs for knowledgeable men." ("Ar-Rům, 30:22)

⁶⁵ Ibid.

And Allah says about their different creeds and laws, which means, "And if your Lord had (so) decided, He would indeed have made man-kind one nation; and (i.e. but) they do not cease differing (among themselves). Excepting the ones on whom your Lord has mercy, and He created them for that (end), and perfected has been the Word of your Lord. "indeed I will definitely fill Hell with jinn and mankind all together." (Hüd, 11:18-119)

And He says,

and a program. And if "Allah had so decided, He would Indeed have made you one nation, but (He did not) that He may ary try you in what He has terought you. So race with each other in the charitable (deeds); to "Allah will be your return, altogether; so He will fully inform you of that wherein you used to differ." ("Al-Māl"idah, 5:48)

Allāh informed us that He will judge between people on the Day of Resurrection wherein they used to differ, so He did not leave us in vain, killing each other due to these differences especially since these differences are in Islamic principles, creed, and religion.

Principles for Dealing with People of Other Faiths:

"Allah revealed rules pertaining to how people should deal with each other in their differences. When we hold a discussion with prominent figures among jurists and heads of assemblies and Islamic centlers or with Muslim minorities in a non-Muslim community, the discussion will be limited to the social behavior of Muslim minorities or what we call the jurispurdence of minorities in a non-Muslim community. The most important rules are:

First: Do Not Keep Separate from Society:

There is no evidence that a Muslim should separate himself from non-Muslim communities, according to the following points:

1. The Prophet of Pallah Ibrahim (Abraham, peace be upon him) called his nation to the religion of PAIIsh and tried to convince them graciously. He did not isolate himself from them, he merely separated himself from the idols they worshipped. The Clorious Qur'ain refers to his discussion with his nation. Here are some verses from Chapter Al-Anbiyá where "Allah says:

which means, "And indeed We already brought ibrahim earlier his right-mindedness and We were knowledgeable of him. As he said to his father and his people, "What are these statues to which you are consecrating (yourselves)." They said, "We found our fathers worshipping them." He said, "Indeed you were already, you and your fathers, in evident error." ("AI-"Anbiyâ", 21:51-54)

 "Allâh the Exalted ordered the Prophet (peace be upon him) and the Muslims who followed him to emigrate to Al-Madfinah in order to establish the Islamic State. For this reason the Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "I am not responsible for any Muslim who stays among polytheists (inside Makkah)."

Moreover, "Alfah punished those who did not emigrate by depriving them of His support against the polytheists who had signed a treaty with the Muslims, but not from His support against polytheists who had signed no such treaty with the Muslims." Alfah saws.

﴿ إِنَّ أَلْمِينَ النَّوَا وَمَا عَرَّوَا وَجَهَدُوا بِأَمْرَيْهِمْ وَأَشْهِمْ فِي شِيلِ أَلَّهُ وَأَلَّهُمْ ا بازوا زَّسَرُوا أُولَيْكَ نَعْتُهُمْ أَرْلِنَا لَا مَعْمٍ وَالَّذِينَ دَاشُوا وَقَمْ يَاجُوا اَ لَا لَكُّمْ مَنْ وَلَنِهِمْ مِن هُنْءَ حَقَّى يَا جَرُوا أَوْلِنَا الشَّمَرُكُمُ فِي النَّفِينَ فَعَلَيْصُمُ ٱلْمُمْرُ إِلَّا عَلَى فَرِيدِيْكُمْ وَيَوْبُهُمْ يَنْفُولُونَا بِمِنْ أَوْلَةٌ بِمَا فَعَلَمُونُ فِيلَانِهِمْ فَيَقَالُ which means, "Surely the ones who have believed and have emigrated and striven with their riches and their above emigrated and striven with their riches and their above and their above and the sold and have given above and have given one another. And the ones who have believed, and have one one other. And the ones who have believed, and have not emigrated, in no way are you to offer them patronages and in case they ask you to sold the help towards victory in the nameful the religion, then you have (to help them above to the patronages) with the proposed between whom and you there is a compact; and

"Allāh is Ever-Beholding whatever you do." ("Al-"Anfâl, 8:72)

Accordingly, after establishing the Islamic State and the submission of the polytheists of Makkah to the judgment of Islam after the conquest of Makkah; the Prophet [pace be upon him's abd, "There is no Hejan file, migration (from Makkah) to HaNadinah) after the Conquest of Makkah), but Jihad and good intention remain," who had present be upon him's said, " migration should be to shandon sail," and the shandon sail, " and the shandon

Second: Lawfulness of Acquiring Citizenship from Non-Muslim Nations and Working for Them:

Working in a non-Muslim country is not among the forbidden loyalty, as it is not among supporting them in a war against Muslims.

After the order of immigration to Al-Madinah, some Muslims kept on working at Makkah with polytheists, so "Allah revealed, which means, "And the ones who have believed, and have not emigrated, in no way are you to offer them patronage in anything till they emigrate." ("AL" Anfal, 8:72)

This deprived them from showing loyalty to them; support them till they emigrate.

[&]quot;Recorded by Al-Bukhary, n.3006 and by Muslim, (1353/85).

⁴⁷ Recorded by Ahmad, vol. 4, n.114

While dealing with non-Muslims in social matters like selling, buying and working for them, is not among supporting them against Muslims and not among the forbidden loyalty. ³Allâh, the Exalted and ever Maiestic says.

which means, "Allah does not forbid you (as regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them; surely "Allah loves the equitable." (EAI-Mumtahanah, 60:8)

Sayyid Qub who died as a martyr said, 'The verses concerned with fighting polytheists and not to be loyal to them were concerned with special case inside the Arab Perinisula after the battle of Tabok in order to face gatherings of Byzantine stationed at borders of the Peninsula to attack. Muslims and their State. "Allah says."

which means, "Fight the ones who do not believe in "Allâh nor in the Last Day, and do not prohibit whatever "Allâh and His Messenger have prohibited, and do not practice the religion of Truth-from among the ones to whom the Book was brought-until they give the tax out of hand and have been belittled." ("AL-Tawbah, 9:29)

And Sayyid Quib said, 'Those are group from among People of the Book from leaders of the Byzantine that violated their alliance with Muslims and not a general judgment to be applied to all non-Muslims.

Third: Working under authority of non-Muslim:

Concerning working under the authority of non-Muslims and in a non-Muslim country, the Taininyah said, "It is lawful if the job is from the kind that resulted in benefits. Furthermore, it can even be obligatory if it will bring a benefit and prevent an injustice. And if the job includes unjust matters and by quiting it, another person who is more unjust will take over and Muslim is working in order to decrease these unjust, this is good and he will be rewarded according to his intention. This issue differs according to different intentions and wills."

In support of this viewpoint, Ibn Taimiyyah referred to the fact that Prophet Yūsu' (Joseph, peace be upon him) had not only held an office in the cabinet of Fir'awn (Pharaoh), but also it was he who asked for that as mentioned in the Our'an. "Allāh savs.

which means, "He said, "Set me over the land's treasuries. Surely I am constantly-persevering, constantly-knowing." (Yūsuf, 12:55)

Fourth: Disagreement with the Ruler:

If non-Muslims disagree with the ruler and insist that the contract of Dhimmi (non-Muslims) does not contain any article protecting them, then it is Imperative that the Muslim judge takes action for their protection. When clamage occurs to the property of non-Muslims at the hands of Muslims, we have seen that it is the duty of Muslims to replace it. Even if the changed them is prohibited in Islam, as with wine or pig, the ruler should ensure that the non-Muslim is compensated for the changes. The Prophet (peace be Muslim is compensated for the change, The Prophet (peace be upon him) ordered us to respect their religion even if it has been distorted.⁴⁸

If non-Muslim insisted that he can not pay lizyah and ruler of Muslims disagged with him, the say here is according to what this non-Muslim had said till Imam of Muslims proved with evidence other than what he said. Ash-Shaffy explained that Allah in (Ar-Tawhah, 9:29) ordered that lizyah is to be paid if they were able to do so. Whoever claimed that non-Muslim is able to pay lizyah should brine evidence.

Fifth: Prohibition of Perfidy:

Islam focuses on the need for truth. Man must be sincere with his superiors, himself and his nation in any oath and covenant that he takes. A soldier is not allowed to betray or deceive. *Allâh says.

which means, "O you who have believed, fulfill your contracts." ("Al-Mā" idah, 5:1)

And He says,

"Surely only the ones endowed with intellects do remind themselves. (Those) who fulfill the covenant of "Allâh and do not break the pact." ("Ar-Ra'd, 13:19-20)

And He says.

⁶⁸ Ibid.

which means, "And fulfill the covenant of "Allâh when you have covenanted, and do not break the oaths after they have been affirmed. And you have already made "Allâh Sponsor you." ("An-Nahl, 16:91)

Islam stresses the necessity of honoring ones oath and covenant. "Allah intensifies the oath by attributing it to Himself, and He highly praised those who kept their oaths. Auslims in the times of the Prophet were known for keeping their oaths and avoiding perifyly and treason against friend or foe allike.

The Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) guided us in many hadilhs to this righteousness. Anas (may "Allah be pleased with him) narrated that the Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) said, "For every betrayer there will be an emblem by which he will be recognized on the Day of Resurrection."

The Sunnah of the Prophet (peace be upon him) has many examples of the proper conduct of Muslims; he taught his companions, so that they were exemplary in fruth and sincerity. 'Umar bin Al-Khagibi (may "Allah be pleased with him) wrote to the leaders who led the Islamic conquests, if a [Muslim] man calls a polyheist and points a finger to the sky (i.e. to guarantee security from "Allah, then he has made an oath to him to guard his security. He is under an oath and must keep the covenant he has made before "Allah." And Abu Salamsh reported that 'Umar said, 'I swear by the One Who has my life in His Hand, if any of you were to point a finger to the sky before a polyheist (a san oath to protection), and then to kill him, I would kill him to take revenes for this polytheist."

⁶⁹ Recorded by Al-Bukhāny, Fath Al-Bāny, vol. 6, p. 283 and by Muslim, Sharh Ap-Navawy, vol. 12, p. 43.

⁷⁹ As-Sarkhasy, Sharh As-Siyar Al-Kabir, vol. 1, p. 265.

'Umar bin Al-Khatāb' (may "Allāh be plassed with him) wrote to a leader of an army. Twas informed that a man from among you was chasing Al-1ij (strong non-Muslim male) until Al-1ij took refuge in a mountain. The Muslim said, 'Do not be afraid,' while all along he intended to kill him if he caught him. I swear by the One Who has my life in His Hand, whenever I am informed that any of you did so I to a non-Muslim]. Juff lidt lim. "

The Prophet (peace be upon him) made a covenant with the Christians of Najrán, which guaranteed that they would not be prevented from building new churches or an abbey.⁷² Also, Umar kept his word to the Christians of Banu Taghlub when they expressed their desire to give Zakahi instead of Jizyah.

A covenant between Mu'āwiyah bin Abu Sufyān and Byzantium was set for an approved period of time. When the time stipulated in the agreement drew to an end, Mu'āwiyah approached the Byzantiens with his army in order to attack them when the time came, lust then, an old man came forward and suddenly said, "Pallah is the Createst let there be altifulness and not troachery." This old man was "Ann thin "Abush As-Salamy, Mu'āwiyah akked, "Why did you say these wordst "Ann said," I heard the Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) saying. When there is a covenant with people one must not strengthen or loosen it until its term is concluded or until the brings it to an end in agreement with them to make both the parties equal,." And he (peace be upon him) said, "Whoever has the following four (characteristics) wholly classifies as a hypocritic whenever he is entrusted, he betrays. Whenever he speaks, he lies. Whenever he makes a covenant, he proves treacherous. Whenever he quarrels, he behaves in a very imprudent, evil and insulting manner. 474 So Mu'āwiyah returned.

²¹ thid

⁷⁷ Ibn Al-Qayyim, Afikām Ahl Adh-Dhmmah, ed. As-Sāliţi, p. 691, Dăr Al-Ilm Lilmalăvin, Beirut 1964.

⁷³ Recorded by Ahmad, Al-Musnad, vol. 4, pp. 113& 386.

Sixth: Respecting Neutrality of Countries:

In Islam, countries which adopt a neutral stance in war, neither fighting the Muslims nor their enemies should be respected accordingly, and should not have to pay Jizyah. "Allāh says:

which means, "So, in case they keep apart from you (and) so did not fight you, and offer you submissiveness, then in no way does "Allâh allow you a way against them." ("An-Nisâ", 4:90)

Islam did not impose paying Jizyah upon those who are neutral; This is a general judgment to be applied at any time and with all nations. The following are some examples illustrating this:

1. It was reported in the biography of the Prophet (peace be upon him) that he agreed with Baru Darmat that they adopt a neutral stance toward him and Quraish. Here are the words of the alliance: The Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) went out in the second year after the immigration, twelve days into the month of Safar. He was accompanied by seventy men who had no Christians among timen, heading towards the tribes of Quraish and Baru Qamrah. He met with the chief of Baru Qamrah. Majdy bin "Arm and togscher they formed an alliance. This alliance determined," He (peace be upon him) will not attack Baru Qamrah and they will neither stack him nor gather people or support enemies against him. "This was documented between them?" Although rules of neutrality are always set between countries who have authority, and not individuals or tribes, this example shows the lawfulness of the principle itself that can be applied on a larger scale.

³⁴ Recorded by Al-Bukhäry, vol. 1, p. 84 and by Muslim, p. 58.

[&]quot;See: Ibn Sa'd, At-Tabagát, vol. 2 and Zád Al-Ma'ád, vol. 2, p. 116.

- During his reign, "Umar bin Al-Khattab (may "Allah be pleased with him), made an alliance with Arab of Al-Jarahjimah" who inhabited the borders of Syria when they conquered Ash-Sham (Syria, Lebanon, Palestine and Jordan), becoming supporters of Muslims and spies for them against Byzantium in return for not paying Jizyah."
- Mu'awiyah bin Abu Suyan gave an oath to the Roman Catholics in 653 A.D., which considered it lawful for them to have internal independence, and through which he freed them from paying Jizyah for three years²⁶ on condition that they provided supplies for fifteen thousand Muslim knights.²⁷

Seventh: Prohibiting Transgression against Society:

Seizing the money and property of non-Muslims is not only stealing; it is inviting others to engage in acts that are entirely prohibited. Many in society might think it is permissible to take advantage of others because they do not follow the same faith, while this is against the principles of Islam. Moreover, those who insist on allowing what is forbidden are considered desenters of Al-Jarájmah: plural of Jurjúmah which is a city at mountain of Al-Jakám. Al-Jarájmah is the name which people of this city are called and it appeared that this old name remained connected with this city. Al-Jarájmah used to have great power during the Arab conquest and reign of Asyubids. Da'iratuf-Ma'arif Al-Idamiosh vol. 6 n. 318.

²⁷ Al-Baladhry, Futûh Al-Buldan, p. 159.
⁷⁰ Ibid n. 209 and after.

⁷⁹ Professor Wahbah Az-Zahily, Athar Al-Harb, p. 211, Där Al-Fikr, Damascus 1981.

their religion. The Prophet (peace be upon him) assigned 'Aly bin Abu Talib to say at Makkah and not to immigrate with him in order to pay back to the polyfleists the trusts and money that they had deposited in his house, although he could easily have taken if all with him. However, this is not the behavior of the biessed prophet, even though these polyfleists illegitimately took the wealth of Muslims in Makkah, a matter that resulted in battle of Badr. After the victory of Badr, he Prophet (peace be upon him) permitted the Muslims to acquire the booty left behind by the polyfleists, but this booty was not the property of one person, since only the ruler has the authority to divide it. The Prophet (peace be upon him) in said, "He who takes booty is not one of us." He also said (peace be upon him), "Plunder is more unlawful than carrion."

When the Prophet (peace be upon him) besieged the forts of the Jews who had betrayed him, a man from them approached him with a herd of cattle and said, 1 have just embraced Islam today and these sheep belong to a Jewish man from inside the forts, 1 present them to you, 0 Messenger of "Allahr" The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "We accept your Islam, but we relize the sheep. Take them back to their owner." He said, "If I enter [the fort] with the sheep, the Jews will not leave me. The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, Let them walk in front of you until they are inside the fort, then leave them to their owners and return alone."

Eighth: Necessity of cooperation and solidarity:

Islam sets rules for social solidarity between Muslims and non-Muslims, and upholds that all citizens must cooperate to defend the country in which they live. These principles are defined in the covenant that the Prophet (peace be upon him) declared between Muslims and Jews where both came together as one nation to support each other and defend their land. PAlláh says which means, "And help one another to benignancy and piety." ("Al-Mā"idah, 5:2)

 $^{^{10}}$ Jámí' Al-Uṣūi, vol. 2, p. 724 and Ibn Hishām, As-Sīrah An-Nabawiyah, vol. 3, ⁴¹ Ibn Hishâm, As-Sîrah An-Nahawiyah, vol. 3, p. 806.

Ninth: Necessity for Peaceful Coexistence:

Islam orders Muslims to peacefully coexist with non-Muslims.
³Alláh says:

which means, "And do not let antagonism of a people who barred you from the inviolable mosque provoke you to transgress. And help one another to benignancy and piety, and do not help one another to vice and hostility." ("AI-Mā'īdah, 5:2)

After first barring the Muslims from entering the Sacred Mosque, the polytheists of Makkah became inclined toward peace and made a truce with Muslims. The Islamic judgment here is to cooperate with them in benignancy and piety.

We have already seen how the Declaration set by the Prophet (peace be upon him) represents the first constitution in the whole world to protect the rights of minorities.

Tenth: Good example:

PAllāh says, which means, "Indeed you have already had a fair example in the Messenger of "Allâh." ("Al-"A \underline{h} zāb, 33:21)

The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "Verily "Allah does not look to your faces but He looks to your hearts and your deeds." Therefore, Islam orders Muslims to set a good example, since they represent Islam in whatever countries they live in. Accordingly, they must convey a message that states that Muslims are moral and decent, and that their treatment of others is with kindness and virtue.

Eleventh: Removing Dubiousness about Prescribed Penalties and Human Rights:

Islamic penalties do not disagree with human rights, even the most speculated penalties, i.e. stoning persons guilty of adultery. hand-severing of those convicted of theft, and passing the death penalty on those convicted of murder. Islam rejects social corruption. Its laws are laid down to discourage those who entertain the thought of committing vile prohibited deeds from proceeding with their actions. A brief explanation follows. Family is the basic unit of society, and should be the cradle of love and harmony, mutual trust and respect. Infidelity between couples creates discord and a breakdown in every value held dear to family life. When a married man/woman engages in extra-marital relations, he/she acts only on selfish, short-lived desires, without regard for the other party or the ultimate fate of the family unit. Marriages dissolve, and children are more than often the victims. Unlawfully begotten children likewise suffer, having no morally acceptable identity. To know that a brief whim will result not only in the breakdown of the marriage, but in public disgrace and death through stoning if discovered, should make a person review his/her need for embarking on a rash adventure. Likewise. consider the fate of a caught thief. A thief has only two hands. These are quite literally, the tools of his trade. If he is made acutely aware that his actions would result in him losing one or both 1 he would lose his second hand if he were to return to stealing after the first penalty was enforced, then it would naled him think carefully about his actions. As for mundre, it is enough said that when European countries repealed capital punishment, violent crimes increased, leading many of these countries to reevaluate the need for this penalty. Moreover, even in countries which do not uphold the death penalty, it is usually the bereaved families of mundreded victims that feel that death alone is the belitting punishment for a munderer. Hence, away from idealized notions or derom, or of "leaving a killer to his conscience", in reality, the ruthlessness of munder can only be met with the same bitter pill. "Allah speaks the truth when he says," which means, "And in retaliation there is life for you, O (men) endowed with intellects, that possibly you would be plous." ("Al-Baqarah, 2:179)

It should be known that for each crime, Islam has a penalty which corresponds in intensity to that crime, thus protecting individual, family and community. When a crime does not have a corresponding penalty, as is the case lax penal methods in European countries, crime on a wide scale thrives, with crumbling morals and resilient mobs and agans at large to victimize the people. Some may argue that some penalties, such as stoning adulteers and hand severing for theth are unduly cruel; however, it is important to stress that the strictest of measures are employed in proving that these crimes were in fact committed by the persons under suspicion. It is rare when such crimes are actually punished, due to the difficult method and conditions that are required to prove they took place. For example, in order to execute the penalty of stoning, adulteers must be seen publicly.

engaged in the sexual act by four witnesses who must attest to having explicitly seen the act with their own eyes. Moreover, if their testimonies do not agree with each other, every one of them will receive eighty lashings. Similarly, hand severing does not apply if the thire is a needy person, or if he stole in private away from the eyes of observers.

"Allâh's punishment is meant to restain us from wrong-doing, "Allâh Almight's reminding us of the serveint of the act tiles two consider our deeds insignificant) by laying down an equally severe punishment. The fact that He has made conditions for executing a punishment so difficult is evidence that He does not wish for us to be disgacated, it is shameful enough for us to know that "Allâh sees and knows what we have done and that He will be displaced with us. It is also enough for us to ask ourselves what our punishment will be like in the eternal Hereafter if these are the punishment stipulated during our transient lives on earth.

Twelfth: Non-Jurisdiction of Compulsory Application of Shari'ah:

The Prophet (peace be upon him) taught mankind the rule of regional law, which means that the minorly has to respect the law and creed of the majority. The last article of the constitution of Al-Madinah included that whenever there is a disagreement about any matter, judgment should be in accordance with the law of "Allah and His Messenger. That is to say, in cases of difference between minorities, the law that will be applied is law of the country and the government, representative of the majority, it is not the mission of the Muslim minority in Europe to demand the non-Muslim government to apply rules of Islamic Shari'ah; their mission is to call them to worship "Allah alone without any partners. If they accept that, they will hasten to apply the Shari'ah of Islam themselves. The Prophet Jeace be upon himi constantly advised those who called people to the religion of Islam to begin by encouraging people to embrace Islam first; when they accept, when they accept, when they accept, when they accept, when they accept the proposed in the religion of Islam to begin by encouraging people to embrace Islam first; when they accept, when they accept the proposed accept the proposed accept the proposed acceptance and the proposed acceptance then the rules of prayer, Zakāh, and other issues may be convey for them to apply by themselves.

Thirteenth: Rights of Foreigners in Muslim Countries:

Before the revelation of the Glorious Qur'ân, foreigners enjoyed no rights. In the cities of Byzantium and Persia, foreigners were like slaves, deprived of their legal rights. They were not permitted to own anything, marry, or to resort to court in the case of being harmed by others. ⁵²

When the Prophet (peace be upon him) declared the Islamic government in Al-Madinah in the seventh century A.D. / first year after Hegira, he repealed this unjust system. The Qur'an guaranteed to protect the rights and safety of the foreign non-Muslim in the Muslim state. "Allsh savs.

which means, "And in case any of the associators seeks of you neighborly (protection), then grant him neighborly (protection) till the hears the Words of "Allah; thereafter convey him to his secure place. That (is) for that they are a people who do not know." ("At-Tawbah. 9:6).

Ibn Kathir said in his interpretation of this verse, 'Whoever comes from a land not ruled by Muslims to a land ruled by them in order to deliver a message, engage in trade, or to negotiate peace, or a truce, etc, will be given protection until he returns to his house and home.⁴⁵

⁸² Professor "Izud-Din 'Abdullâh, Af-Qânûn Ad-Dawly Af-Khâs, vol. 1, p. 11.
⁸³ Ibn Kuhîr. Tafsîr, vol. 4, p. 119.

Sa'dd bin Jubair (may "Alláb be pleased with him reported that a man from among the polytheists saked 'Aly bin Abu Tālbi (may "Alláb be pleased with him) about the fate of polytheists who had broken a covenant made with the Muslims, once the customary four months' grace period given by Muslims for repentance was over. 'If anyone of the wishes to appreach Whalmamd after the termination of the grace period permitted to polytheists, would he be stain?'

'Aly (may "Allâh be pleased with him) said, ' No, he will not be slain, for "Allâh says, which means, "And in case any of the associators seeks of you neighborly (protection), then grant him neighborly (protection) trill he hears the Words of "AllSh; thereafter convey him to his secure place. That (is) for that they are a people who do not know." ("Al-Tawbah, "3-6)

Al-Qurtuby said of this verse that it stands '...among the entirely clear verses of the Quran till the Day of Resurrection. 184 it calls for a principle that remains unchanged forever.

Imman Al-Hasan AF-Basyr said, "This protection fof Muslims to non-Muslimg is general and not just during the time revealed. It does not end after the polytheist ends his initial cause for coming to Muslim lands, but confirms whroughout his stay there, even if there is a war between the Muslims and the nation this polytheist comes from."⁵⁵

⁵¹ Al-Ourtuby, Tafsir, vol. 1, p. 77.

⁸⁵ Az-Zamakhsharv, Tafsir Ak-Kashsháf, vol. 2, p. 29.

Thus foreigners staying in Muslim countries are to be guaranteed right of protection, regardless of the political relations between both countries.

Protection in Islam is not a means of gaining entrance and permanent residency to a country, since residency arrangements can only be guaranteed by the governing body.

It is, however, a contract that individual, family or ruler can conclude. Albakhair recorded in his Sahih that Umm Hahi' (may "Allah be pleased with her) went to the Prophet (peace be upon him) in the year of the conquest of Makkah and said, "O Messenger of "Allah My brother has told me that he will kill a person for whom I gave shelter." The Prophet (peace be upon him) asid, "We will shelter this person whom you have sheltered."

The Prophet (peace be upon him) also said, "The asylum granted by any Muslim is to be secured (respected) by all other Muslims; whoever betrays a Muslim in this respect incurs the curse of "Alláh, the ansels, and all the people."

Contemporary systems and modern laws have let the code of war govern relations between reighboring countries. Accordingly, relations are severed and no communication between the peoples of these countries is allowed until peace is declared. In contrast, the Islamic state in the seventh century AD improved international relations by providing protection for warriors. Any Individual, family or ruler can guarantee this protection. Even a slave has the right to shelter and protect a non-Muslim. All that is required is that the or she be a Muslim with intext faculties of reasoning. In ⁶⁶ Al-'Ainy, 'Umdatul-Qiri' sharh sabih Al-Bukhāry, vol. 4, p. 63. ⁶⁷ Recorded by Al-Bukhāry, n.1771 and by Muslim, n.1371.

⁸ Professor Häfizh Ghänim, Al-Qanan Ad-Dawly Al-Am, p. 596.

[&]quot;Alá'ud-Din Al-Kāsāny, Badā'i" Aṣ-Ṣanā'i', vol. 7, p. 106.

The Prophet (peace be upon him) said, "If any man from among your nobles or lowers, be they free men or slaves, guarantees a man from among them (polyheisst) asylum (of protection) or points to him (indicating protection) and the other man approaches because of this sign, he will be guaranteed protection until he hears the Words of "Allah." or

Guaranteeing the right of protection, according to the views of some schools, like Hanafy and some Måliky and Shåfi'iv jurists, is not to be generalized to all occasions. It should be limited to the particular instructions given by the ruler that allow/prohibit such an arrangement. This is important because although protection may spare blood in times of war, it can have disastrous consequences for Muslims if they shelter a traitor or spy, As an example, Al-Mughirah bin Shu'bah guaranteed protection to a Magi man called Abu Lu'lu'ah Al-Majûsy. He stayed in Al-Madinah at the time when the caliph 'Umar bin Al-Khattab had prevented foreigners from residing in the capital of the caliphate; Umar, however, respected Al-Mughirah's deed, Abu Lu'lu'ah along with Jufainah and Al-Hurmuzan, the last being the leader of the Persian armies, had been defeated by the Muslims in Al-Mada'in. He then made an alliance and breached it, was once again defeated, captured and transported to Al-Madinah, There, he pretended to embrace Islam, in order to stay in the city. The three men together plotted to kill the caliph 'Umar bin Al-Khattah in revenge for him defeating both the Persians and the Byzantines. They agreed that Ahu Lu'lu'ah should go through with the plot. In the dead of night he pretended to perform prayer with other Muslims, and during Fair (dawn) prayer, he stabbed the caliph six times while he led the congregational prayer. As he escaped, he stabbed thirteen other men, half of whom died. He then killed himself. The caliph died from his fatal wounds.⁹¹

Al-Qaráfy, Af-Furûq, vol. 3, p. 24, Al-Husain As-Sibâ'y, Ar-Rawd An-Nadir, vol. 4, p. 229, and Ahmad bin Yahyâ bin Al-Muntada, Al-Bahr Az-Zakhkhār, vol. 5, p. 452.

Fourteenth: The Islamic View Concerning the Subjects of a Hostile Country

If war were to break out between a Muslim and non-Muslim nation, like the war between the Palestinians and the Isaalis, International law permits, when necessary, capturing civilians of the hostile country, Before the issuing of the United Nation's Charter, one country, Before the issuing of the United Nation's another as soon as war had broken out. These would be considered prisoners of war, even though they were not soldiers. Moreover, their property would be confiscared.

However, after issuance of the United Nations Charter, other bills were passed to protect of civilians, namely, the Universal Declaration of Human Rights on December 10, 1948, and the Geneva Convention for the protection of civilians during wartine issued in 1949. Article 42 of the latter banned arresting the subjects of enemies or imposing restrictions on movements except in cases when a country's safety is at stake.

However, according to Islamic judgments, when a foreigner enters Muslim land, he is guaranteed by law full freedom of movement and of conducting all forms of transactions. Such a right remains even after war breaks out with his country. No restrictions are imposed on him except for complying with the regional rules whether in civilian or criminal matter.

If there is any concern in any way that his country is using him as a spy, Muslims have no power over him except to keep him away from their land, as Emir of the Believer 'Umar bin Al-Khattab did.

⁹¹ Al-Khilâfah wai-Khulafă' Ar-Răshidön, pp. 198-202, Dăr Az-Zahră', Egypt and Dâr Al-Manâr, Kiewit, 1420 A.H., 1999 A.D.

He withdrew from Al-Madinah and Khaibar all the Jews, as recorded by Al-Bukhāry and Al-Baihaqy. 92

Thus, the covenant of peace in Islam protects a person and his property in a way never found in any international law. According to International Law, the nation can confiscate the property of civilians. During the First World War in 1914, and the Section World War in 1945, nations decided that it was permissible to do the following?

- 1. To reserve the property of subjects from the hostile nation.
- To expropriate such people of their property and put them under siege.
- 3. To sell their property.

In contrast, Islamic law secures peace for a person, and his property is protected. He is entitled to continue his commercial activities in the Muslim country, and whoever ruins his property is obliged to compensate him. The rights of the enemies residing in Muslim countries during war are:

- His property remains in his possession. It is neither reserved nor confiscated. The four founders of major Juristic schools believe that if such a person comes back to settle in the warring country, this does not break the covenant of peace granted to him and his property.³²
- If he dies in a Muslim country or in a land where there is war, his money goes to his heirs. If he was killed in Recorded by Al-Bukhāry, vol. 3, p. 105; Al-Baihaqy, Sunan, vol. 5, p. 207; and thn Hishām, Sirah, vol. 2, p. 356.

Prof. Muhammad Häßer) Ghäum, Mabädi "Al-Qänin Ad-Däwiv Al-Âm, vol.

Prot. Mohammad Hahizh Chanim, shabadir Al-Janun Ad-Junin Ad-Junin Ad-Junin Ad-Junin Al-Am, vol. 5, p. 598; Mahmid Samy Juninah, Qinun Al-Harb wal-Hiyad, p. 222; and 'Aly Abu Heif, Al-Qinun Ad-Dawly Al-Am, p. 612, version of 1959.

³⁴ As-Sarkhasy, Al-Mabsúy, vol. 1, p. 91; and Ash-Shāfi'y, Al-Umm, vol. 4, p. 191

Muslim countries, the state is obliged to pay Diyah (bloodmoney) to his heirs. Imam At-Tabary reported the Jurist's consensus regarding this matter.⁹⁵

Jurists consider that if a disbeliever who is not on peaceful terms with Muslims is granted peace by the ruler for a definite or an indefinite period, then his safety is guaranteed. It is impermissible to aggress or attack him.

Judgments pertaining to War in Christianity

"Allah sent 'fab (sesus, peace be upon him) to put an end to the deviations of the rabbis, who had long since distorted the message of prophet Musi (Moses, peace be upon him). For this reason, lesus' message was one of love, forgiveness and not of war or fighting. Thus, we find therein no judgments pertaining to penalties and lighting according to the concept of Islamic faux." In Christianity, there is nothing like a religious system of jihad (fighting in the Cause of "Allah), for 'fab epeace be upon him' did not deal with legislations. In all his religious and worldly teachings, while talking about marriage and divorce for example, he never legislated any rules binding to the society neither in internal nor external law*. Rather, he called for peace, for spritual Jihad and for resorting to arms when necessary.

His call for peace and love is seen in the fifth chapter of Mathew, "Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth." (MI:5:5) "Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children

⁸⁵ At-Tabary, Ikhtiláí Al-Eunahá*, p. 51.

¹⁸ Iön Qudamah, Al-Mughny, vol. 8, p. 543; Ash-Shirbiny, Mughny Al-Muhtai, vol. 4, p. 234; As-Sankhasy, Sharh As-Siyar Al-Kabir, vol. 1, p. 283; Al-Esattib, Mawahib Al-Jalii, vol. 3, p. 36; Ash-Shirarkiany, Natl Al-Awtar, vol. 8, p. 34; and Ash-Shirary, Al-Muhadhibab, vol. 2, p. 234.

DA'rrat Al-Ma'aril Al-'Arabiyyah, vol. 6, p. 574

Milmy Butrus, Al-Ahwâl Ash-Shakhsiyyah Lighair Al-Mushmin, p. 128, Dá'irat Al-Ma'ârif, ibid.

of God." (Mt:5:9) "Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time. Thou shalt not kill: and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: But I say unto you, that whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment; and whosoever shall say to his brother. Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire." (Mt:5:21-22) "Ye have heard that it hath been said. An eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth: But I say unto you. That ye resist not evil: but whosoever shall smite then on thy right cheek, turn to him the other also. And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him have thy cloke also. And whosoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain. Give to him that asketh thee, and from him that would borrow of thee turn not thou away." (Mt:5:38-42) "Ye have heard that it hath been said, Thou shalt love thy neighbor, and hate thine enemy. But I say unto you. Love your enemies, bless them that curse you, do good to them that hate you, and pray for them which despitefully use you, and persecute you." (Mt:5:43-44)

lesus Christ and Taking Up Arms

Jesus Christ ordered his followers to take up arms only for defending themselves. In the Book of Luke, Jesus Christ says, "...he that haft no sword, let him sell his garment, and buy one." (Lk:22:36) in the Book of Mathew, "Think not that I am come to send peace on earth: I came not to send peace, but a sword, (Mct:0:34) in the Book of Luke, "I am come to send fire on the parth: and what will I, if it be already kindled?" (Lk:12:49)

All of these teachings were addressed to those Jews who do mischief on earth and make lawful killing people (other than Jews) and ransacking their property.

Jewish Judgments Pertaining to Non-Jews

All peace treaties held with Israel, whether by Egyptians or Palestinians, have revealed that they follow strictly what is recorded in the Zionist Protocols. They have violated all covenants with races other than their own, and transgressed their homes and property. If they deny the presence of such protocols and if the United States supports their claims, they cannot possibly deny what is recorded in the Tawrah (Torah). History has never known war fiercer than that upheld by the lewish religion. In the Tawráh, war means eradication and extermination. It is mentioned in the thirteenth chapter of the Book of Deuteronomy, "Thou shalt surely smite the inhabitants of that city with the edge of the sword, destroying it utterly, and all that is therein, and the cattle thereof, with the edge of the sword. And thou shalt gather all the spoil of it into the midst of the street thereof, and shalt burn with fire the city, and all the spoil thereof every whit, for the Lord thy God: and it shall be an heap for ever; it shall not be built again. (Dt: 13:15-16)

In the twentieth chapter, is mentioned,

"When thou comest night unto a city to fight against sit, then proclaim peace unto it. And it shall be, if it make thee answer of peace, and open unto thee, then it shall be, that all the people that is found therein shall be tributaries unto thee, and they shall serve thee. And if it will make no peace with thee, but will make war against thee, then thou shall besiepe it. And when the Lord thy God hath delivered it into thine hands, thou shall smite every male thereof with the edge of the sword: But the women, and the little ones, and the cattle, and all that is in the city, even all the spoil thereof, shall thou take unto thyself, and thou shalt eat the spoil of thine enemies, which the Lord thy God hath siven thee. Thus shall thou do unto all the cities which are very far off from thee, which are not of the cities of these nations. But of the cities of these people, which the Lord thy Cod doth give thee for an inheritance, thou shall save alive nothing that breatherlts. But thou shall tuttedly destroy them; namely, the Hittlies, and the Amorites, the Camanites, and the Perizzites, and the lebusites; as the Lord thy Cod hash commanded thee: That they teach you not to do after all their abominations, which they have done unto their god's; so should ye sin against the Lord vour Cod." (Dc.2010-18)

Non-Muslims and the Palestinian Issue

For sometime now, the Jews of Israel, with the aid and blessing of the American administration have been killing Palestinians, confiscating their property and practicing all kinds of aggression.

Some Muslims might think that it is justifiable to treat them in the same way in acts of retallation. That means Jews and Americans living in Arab or European countries would be killed, their properties confiscated or ransacked.

However, this is not what Islam calls for. Only shose who attack us can be attacked, and within certain limits only. Penalty in Islam is concerned with the person who committed a wrong-doing, and can never exceed him to another. That means only our aggressors should receive realitation. "Allfah says:

which means, "And no encumbered self is encumbered by the encumbrance of another self." ("Al-"An cam, 6:164)

Moreover, it is not the responsibility of individuals to payback, but of governments. When "Ubaldullâh bin "Umar killed Al-Hurmuzân for murdering his father, the Companions gave their legal opinion that 'Ubaidullah be executed for killing Al-Hurmuzan. They said that only rulers or their appointed judges have the right to give verdicts against people.

It is impermissible for the penalty to go beyond the wrongdoer as a person. In addition, the penalty must not exceed the limits of the initial aggression, for "Allâh says, which means, "And fight in the way of "Allâh the ones who fight you, do not transgress; surely "Allâh does not love the transgressors." ("Al-Baqarah, 2:190)

`Allâh also reminds us of His Judgments sent to the Jews in their Tawrâh and which they distorted. "Allâh says, the self, and the eye for the eye, and the nose for the nose, and the ear for the ear, and the tooth for the tooth, and for wounds retallation. So, whoever donates it, then it is an explation for him. And whoever does not judge according to what PAlláh has sent down, then those are they (who are) the unjust." (PAI-Mā'idah, 5:45)

If the Jews, or any other nation, disregarded the Judgments of Allâh revealed to them in their religion and distorted them, Muslims can never abandon or disregard the Judgments of ^aAllâh regarding the human soul, his property, or any other aspect pertaining to him, even if it is of minor importance.

Killing a human being is a deadly sin. Since "Allah knew at the very beginning of time that the Jews would deviate from His Judgment, He forbade killing in the first place. That is why in the verses that follow the description of how Kane killed his brother Abel we find that "Allah has revealed:

which means, 'On that account We prescribed for the Seeds of Israil that whoever kills a self-hort than for killing another) self or for corruption in the earth-then it will be as if he had killed mankind altogether; and whoever gives life to it, then it will be as if he had given life to mankind altogether. And indeed Our Messengers have already come to them with superme evidences; thereafter surely many of them after that are indeed extravagant in the earth." (PAAW) faids, 5:23 [

According to the Laws of PAIIII and the custom of people, it is permissible to return the aggression of Jews in occupied Palestine, but going beyond that, attacking peaceful people among tourists and inhabitants of Arab and Islamic countries, in places other hand Palestine, is prohibited by Islam. On the contrary, it orders us to be just and rightness toward them. PAIIII as used.

which means, ""Allâh does not forbid you (as regards) the ones who have not fought you on account of the religion and have not driven you out of your residences that you should be benign to them and be equitable towards them; surely "Alfâh loves the equitable." ("Al-Mumtahansh, 60:8) ion Majah recorded in Ad-Diyât Chapter that the Prophet (peace be upon him said, "Whoever kills a person who holds a covenant (with Muslims) will be prohibited [even] the scent of Paradise. Verily, its scent traits off to a distance that would be covered in forty years of walking;" The person who holds a covenant with a Muslim is the non-Muslim who legally enters an Islamic country whether with the intention of vising or residing.

Imam Muslim recorded in his Sahifi in Al-Jihidad Chapter that Umar bin Al-Khathāi (may "Allah be pleased with him) said, "When the Messenger of "Allah (peace be upon him) entered Makkah, he saw a woman being killed. Upon seeing her, he said, 'She would not have fought!' He forbade the killing of women and rhildram.

Conclusion

The history of Islam, since the beginning of its first state up to our contemporary age, supports the fact Islam is the only religion that recognized others and marinated their rights. Throughout the history, one can not find even a single case in which Muslims corrected others to abandon their religions and convert to Islam. Rather, for anyone to embrace Islam, their faith and belief should be sincere and should be supported by their own willingness to commit themselves to the Shari'ah of Islam. On the contrary, anyone can see what Muslims are currently suffering and how are they treated, the matter that denies all religions and/or beliefs.

It should be made clear and the humanity should know that Islam is the religion chosen by "Allah (God) to be the universal religion preached by all prophets. It should also be known that Muhammad, the Prophet of Islam, (peace be upon him) was sent as mercy to all mankind. "Allah saves:

which means, "Say, "O you mankind, surely I am the Messenger of "Allah to you altogether." (AL"ATraf 7:158)

Islam teaches its adherents to accept others and treat them very well not matter what religion they believe in, or whether they were Muslims or non-Muslims.

Concluding this work, we wish all readers, both Muslims and non-Ntaslims, could benefit from it knowing stound views on many of the misconceptions of Islam and getting answers to many of the questions they might used to have. We wish we could cover such topics as the peaceful coexistence between Muslims and non-Muslims, establishing social relations and carrying our different transactions through the points covered in this bock, which we tried to explain and support from Qurian, Suranka not the actual history of that the Prophet (peace be upon him, his Companions and their successors (may Allah be pleased with them). The history of such very early Muslim generations receive and experiences of coexisting between Muslims and their fellow non-Muslim people; either they were neighbors or citizens of the Muslim State. It also includes accounts on the opposite state having Muslim minorities living in non-Muslim communities. The accounts and legal rulings throughout the book were made to be consistent with the fativas delivered by great Muslim scholars, and otherwise is not certain.